1 MOTION

2 Pursuant to Nevada Rule of Civil Procedure 65, Plaintiffs hereby seek a preliminary 3 injunction, enjoining Defendant, Dan Schwartz, in his official capacity as Treasurer of the State of 4 Nevada, from implementing Senate Bill 302 on the grounds that Senate Bill 302 violates Article
5 XI of the Nevada Constitution.

6 POINT AND AUTHORITIES

7 I. INTRODUCTION

8 From its founding, Nevada has recognized that a primary duty of the Legislature is to 9 provide for the public education of Nevada's children. This duty is enshrined in the Nevada
10 Constitution, which mandates that the Legislature maintain a uniform system of common schools,
11 sufficiently fund that uniform system as the first appropriation of every biennium budget, and use
12 the funds appropriated for the public schools solely for that purpose.

13 In its last legislative session, the Nevada Legislature passed Senate Bill 302 (See Exhibit 1 14 to Clancy Declaration,) ("SB 302" or the "voucher law").¹ This law authorizes the State Treasurer
15 to divert funds from public schools to private accounts, called Education Saving Accounts
16 ("ESAs"), to pay for a wide array of non-public education expenses, including private school
17 tuition, tutoring, home-based education curriculums, and even transportation. SB 302 violates 18 Article XI of Nevada Constitution (the "Education Article") on three separate grounds and must be 19 enjoined:

20 First, the Nevada Constitution, Article XI, sections 3 and 6, expressly prohibits the transfer 21 of funds appropriated for the operation of the public schools to any other use. This is exactly what 22 occurs under SB 302—each individual ESA represents a direct diversion of public school funds
23 from Nevada's public schools to private purposes. As the Legislative Counsel's Digest on SB 302
24 explains, "the amount of the [ESA] must be deducted from the total apportionment to the resident
25 school district of the child on whose behalf the grant is made." SB 302, Legislative Counsel's

28 Declaration") as Exhibit A.

1 Digest. Because SB 302 diverts funds allocated for the public schools to private uses, the voucher
2 law, on its face, violates the Education Article of the Nevada Constitution.

3 Second, Article XI, section 6, of the Nevada Constitution mandates that the Legislature
4 appropriate the funds it “deems sufficient” to fund the public education system first before any 5 other budget appropriation is enacted. The Legislature did just that in the last legislative session.
6 However, through SB 302, it then directed the State Treasure to reduce the amounts provided to 7 public schools by the amounts deposited in private ESAs. Deductions from the amount deemed 8 sufficient by the Legislature to operate the public schools necessarily depletes the pool of funds
9 below the amount deemed sufficient to do so. Because SB 302 reduces the funds appropriated by 10 the Legislature as sufficient to maintain and operate the public schools, the voucher law, on its 11 face, violates the Education Article of the Nevada Constitution.

12 Third, Article XI, section 2, of the Nevada Constitution mandates that the Legislature
13 establish a “uniform system of common,” or public, schools. Public schools must educate and be 14 free and open to all children, regardless of their religious beliefs, socioeconomic status, academic 15 achievement, ELL status, disability or special needs. In contrast, private schools and other private 16 entities accepting funds under SB 302 need not be open to all children and may discriminate on the 17 basis of a student’s personal characteristics, including household income, academic performance or 18 other factors. Likewise, private schools and other private entities accepting funds under SB 302 do
19 not have to implement the established curriculum, teaching standards, testing regimen or other
20 education requirements applicable to all public schools across the state enacted by the Legislature 21 to maintain uniformity in Nevada’s public school system. By funding both public schools and 22 private entities that are exempt from non-discrimination requirements as well as the educational 23 performance and accountability measures mandated by the Legislature, SB 302 directly 24 undermines the maintenance of a “uniform system.” For this third reason, the voucher law, on its 25 face, violates the Education Article of the Nevada Constitution.

26 Nevada courts have held that violation of the Nevada Constitution alone constitutes 27 sufficient irreparable harm to warrant an injunction. Even if this were not the case, irreparable 28 injury will plainly result here if the voucher law is not enjoined. Public school districts across the

1 state are faced with the imminent threat of losing guaranteed funding allocated by the Legislature
2 to support and maintain the operation of their schools. This reduction in funding will impede the 3 districts' ability to provide essential educational resources to students. As the State Treasurer
4 deducts funding during the school year, districts will be compelled to reduce their budgets on a
5 continuing basis—causing instability and disruption of basic educational programs and services.
6 Students will be negatively impacted by increased class sizes, reductions in resources, reduced
7 programming, lack of building maintenance, and other like harms. Public school children will not
8 get this instructional time back, impairing their basic Constitutional right to a public education.
9 The harms to that right resulting from SB 302's implementation are significant and cannot be 10 remedied by money damages.

11 This court should declare the voucher law unconstitutional under the Education Article and 12 issue a preliminary injunction forthwith to enjoin implementation by the State Treasurer.

13 II. BACKGROUND

14 A. Nevada Public School Funding

15 From the outset, the Nevada Constitution has placed a high priority on public education.
16 As one of the drafters of the Constitution explained in the 1864 Constitutional debate, “[t]ime will 17 not permit, nor is it necessary that I should recapitulate the arguments which have already been 18 urged to show that among the first and the highest duties of the State, is the duty of educating the 19 rising generation.” Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 2, OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE DEBATES AND 20 PROCEEDINGS IN THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION OF THE STATE OF NEVADA (hereinafter 21 “DEBATES AND PROCEEDINGS”) at 587-88, 591-93. Likewise, in his inaugural speech to the 22 Legislature of Nevada, Henry Blasdel, the First Elected Governor of Nevada, stated:

23 The fundamental law of the State imposes on you the duty of 24 providing for a uniform system of common schools The 25 advantages accruing to the body politic arising from an educated, 26 well-informed thinking population, must be obvious to those into 27 whose hands our people have confided the law-making power.
28 Universal education is no longer an experiment of doubtful policy . .
. . . Under that liberal and enlightened system of government which pervades all our institutions and which guarantees to every citizen, however humble his station in life, a voice in the management and direction of State affairs, too much importance cannot be attached to a judicious inauguration of that system, which is to have such an

1 important bearing upon the future prosperity and reputation of the 2 State. I conjure you therefore, to give your early and earnest attention to this subject

3 Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 3, First Annual Message of H.G. Blasdel, Governor of the State of 4 Nevada (1864).

5 Consistent with this high duty, the Nevada Constitution mandates that “[t]he legislature
6 shall provide for a uniform system of common schools” NEV. CONST. art. XI, § 2. The 7 Constitution specifies revenue streams that are to be pledged to the public schools and “must not 8 be transferred to other funds for other uses.” Id. at § 3. The Constitution further mandates that 9 “the legislature shall provide for support and maintenance [of the common schools] by direct 10 legislative appropriation from the general fund” Id. at § 6(1). These appropriations must 11 provide the funding the Legislature “deems to be sufficient,” to “fund the operation of the public 12 schools in the State” first “before any other appropriation is enacted.” Id. at § 6(2).

13 The Nevada Legislature provides funding for the public school system through the 14 “Nevada Plan.” Under the Nevada Plan, the Legislature determines for each biennium² the amount 15 of funding sufficient to operate the public schools and guarantees that amount to school districts.
16 This amount—the basic support guarantee—is funded by the Legislature through a combination of 17 state monies appropriated to the State’s Distributive School Account (“DSA”) and mandated local 18 taxes. The DSA is comprised, amongst other sources, of money derived from interest on the State
19 Permanent School Fund pursuant to Article XI, section 3, of the Nevada Constitution and the 20 appropriations of state revenue made by the Legislature each biennium for the operation of 21 Nevada’s public schools pursuant to Article XI, section 6, of the Nevada Constitution. NRS
22 387.030. The Nevada Plan requires the State to make quarterly payments to school districts from 23 the DSA. NRS 387.121, 387.1235. Through the Nevada Plan, the State guarantees the amount it 24 deems sufficient to operate the public schools and provides the funding for that amount as the first 25 priority in the biennium State budget.

27 ² Art. XI, section 6.6, defines “biennium” as “a period of two fiscal years beginning on July 1 of an 28 odd-numbered year and ending on June 30 of the next ensuing odd-numbered year.”

1 The Legislature's stated objective in funding public schools through the Nevada Plan is "to 2 ensure each Nevada child has a reasonably equal educational opportunity." NRS 387.121.
3 Further, the Legislature recognizes, through the Nevada Plan, the State's obligation to supplement
4 "local financial ability to whatever extent necessary in each school district to provide programs of 5 instruction in both compulsory and elective subjects that offer full opportunity for every Nevada
6 child to receive the benefit of the purposes for which public schools are maintained." Id.

7 Pursuant to its Constitutional obligation, the Legislature passed Senate Bill 515 ("SB
8 515")—its enactment of the Nevada Plan for the 2015-2017 biennium—and appropriated the funds
9 it deemed sufficient for the operation of the Nevada public schools for the student population
10 reasonably estimated for the biennium. SB 515 establishes the statewide average basic support per 11 public school pupil for 2015-16 at $5,710. SB 515 § 1. In enacting SB 515, the Legislature 12 explained the bill's purpose was to "ensur[e] sufficient funding for K-12 public education for the 13 2015-2017 biennium." SB 515.

14 B. SB 302's Diversion of Public School Funds to Private Purposes

15 During the same Legislative session, the Legislature also enacted SB 302, which was 16 signed into law on June 2, 2015. SB 302 authorizes the transfer of the Legislature's biennial 17 appropriations for the operation of Nevada public schools from those schools into private ESAs.

18 Any child who enrolls in a public school for 100 consecutive days may establish an ESA.
19 SB 302 § 7. The 100-day requirement need be met only once in the child's academic career in 20 order for that child to obtain funding every year until he or she matriculates, drops out, or leaves
21 the state. Id. Under the current proposed regulations, part time or full time enrollment will satisfy 22 the 100-day requirement, and a student who attended public school in 2014-2015 is eligible for an
23 ESA. Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 4, Second Revised Proposed Regulations of the State Treasurer
24 at § 9.4. Further, a child currently enrolled in private school may become eligible by enrolling in 25 just one public school class for 100 days. Id. Likewise, a child can attend a public kindergarten
26
28

1 for 100 days, withdraw to attend private school, and receive a state funded voucher for the next
2 thirteen years. Id.; SB 302 § 7.6.³

3 When an ESA is established, SB 302 requires the State Treasurer to deposit into the ESA
4 an amount equal to 90 percent of the statewide average basic support guarantee per pupil, or 5 $5,139 per pupil for the 2015-16 school year. SB 302 § 8(2). For children with disabilities and 6 children in a household with an income of less than 185 percent of the Federal poverty level, the 7 State Treasurer must transfer 100 percent of the statewide average basic support guarantee per 8 pupil, or $5,710 for 2015-16. Id.

9 The total amount of the basic support guarantee transferred to the ESAs is deducted from 10 the funding appropriated by the Legislature for the operation of the school district in which the 11 eligible children reside. Specifically, the statute directs the State Treasurer to deduct “all the funds
12 deposited in education savings accounts established on behalf of children who reside in the 13 county” from the school district’s “apportionment” of the legislatively appropriated funding
14 “computed on a yearly basis.” SB 302 § 16.1; see also SB 302, Legislative Counsel’s Digest (“the
15 amount of the [ESA] must be deducted from the total apportionment to the resident school district
16 of the child on whose behalf the grant is made.”). As such, each ESA established represents a loss
17 to the public school district of the basic support guarantee amount, that is, either $5,139 or $5,710
18 per year.

19 C. SB 302’s Funding of Non-Uniform Private Schools

20 SB 302 authorizes the most expansive voucher program in the nation. Declaration of 21 Christopher Lubienski as Exhibit B (“Lubienski Declaration”) at ¶ 9 (noting that “no other 22 program in the [United States] comes anywhere near” Nevada’s expansiveness). Other state
23 voucher programs are targeted at low income students, those from underperforming schools,

25 ³ Indeed, Senator Scott T. Hammond, SB 302’s sponsor, has indicated his belief that the law was 26 intended to allow kindergartners to collect their ~$5000 ESA subsidy for 13 years without meeting
27 any attendance requirements. Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 5, Statement of Senator Hammond, 28 Sponsoring Senator of SB 302, at Public Hearing (July 17, 2015) at 47 (“I just want to say that—the intent of the bill, actually from the very beginning was to allow for kindergarten—people coming into kindergarten to choose. So, these are students who are not yet on the rolls.”)

1 and/or are capped by a limit on the number of vouchers available or the total amount allocated for
2 the program each year. Id. at ¶ 8, 10 (discussing numerous eligibility requirements other states
3 impose for voucher recipients). SB 302 has no such limits. It does not impose any income
4 threshold, hardship, school achievement, or academic requirement to receive an ESA. See Clancy
5 Declaration, Exhibit 4, Second Revised Proposed Regulation of the State Treasurer, § 3(1)(b)
6 (stating that the goal of SB 302 is to establish ESAs to “the largest number of children allowable”).
7 SB 302 contains no cap on the total amount of funding that can be transferred from the public
8 school districts to ESAs and it imposes no limit on the number of children who can receive an ESA
9 in any given year.

10 SB 302 also makes almost no restrictions on the private use of funds deposited into ESAs
11 by the State Treasurer. The law allows ESA funds to pay for a myriad of expenses far beyond
12 private school tuition, such as tutoring, commercial tests, home-based education curriculum
13 materials, and transportation to a private school or home-based education experiences. SB 302 §
14 9.1. The list of institutions and entities eligible to participate in the voucher program is also very 15 broad, including private schools, universities, distance education programs, tutors, tutoring
16 programs, and even parents themselves. SB 302 § 11.1. The only requirement in SB 302 for 17 participating entities is that they administer a norm-referenced achievement assessment in 18 mathematics and English/language arts each year. SB 302 § 12(1)(a).

19 SB 302 does not require private schools or other entities participating in the voucher 20 program to meet the non-discrimination, educational performance, accountability or any other
21 requirements established by the Legislature for the operation of Nevada’s uniform system of public
22 schools. Public schools, of course, cannot discriminate and must be open to all students without 23 regard to religion, household income, disability, homelessness or transiency, immigrant status,
24 English non-proficiency, academic or special needs. See, e.g., NRS 388.450; 388.520; 388.405;
25 388.407. In contrast, private institutions receiving ESA funds diverted from public schools may 26 refuse to admit, or otherwise discriminate against, students based on their personal and family
27 characteristics, including household income and academic performance. See generally SB 302;
28 see also Lubienski Declaration at ¶¶ 15-18 (stating that SB 302’s lack of non-discrimination

1 requirements is “anomalous” and noting other states’ myriad non-discrimination requirements).
2 Private schools are not required to provide accommodations for students with disabilities. Further,
3 SB 302 does not require private schools or other entities to accept the ESA amount ($5,139 or 4 $5,710) as full tuition. Rather, private schools may continue to charge tuitions far exceeding that 5 amount and deny entry to those unable to pay. Id. at ¶ 17 (“[N]othing in SB 302 prevents a private
6 school from charging more than the ESA amount and denying entry to those who are unable to pay
7 the full tuition amount.”).

8 Private entities receiving ESA funds are also not required to meet the same academic 9 requirements established by the Legislature for public schools. Nevada public schools are subject
10 to numerous requirements regarding testing and curriculum. See generally NRS 389 et seq.
11 (setting academic and testing standards for public schools). Private entities receiving ESA funding
12 do not have to meet any such requirements. Indeed, private schools can operate in Nevada
13 whether they are licensed by the state or not, NRS 394.211; approximately half of the private 14 schools in the state are exempt from licensure. See Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 6, 2014-15 Private 15 School Reports. Under SB 302, these non-licensed private schools can participate in the voucher
16 program. SB 302 § 11(1)(a). Private schools and other participating entities are also not required
17 to use a curriculum based on state-adopted curriculum content standards. SB 302’s absence of 18 educational performance and accountability requirements is anomalous when compared to other 19 state voucher programs. Lubienski Declaration at ¶¶ 12-14 (explaining that other, more limited,
20 voucher programs impose academic, curricular, and safety requirements for participating entities
21 receiving voucher funds and that SB 302 is “anomalous” for its lack of such requirements).

22 D. Implementation of SB 302

23 The State Treasurer expects to open the application process for ESAs in January of 2016, 24 and to begin disbursing funds in April of 2016. See Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 7, Office of the 25 State Treasurer News Release (July 9, 2015), “Treasurer’s Office Proposes Quarterly Enrollment 26 Periods for Education Savings Accounts” (noting quarterly enrollment periods beginning in 27 January 2016 with corresponding disbursement period of April 2016); see also Clancy Declaration, 28 Exhibit 8, Education Savings Account – SB 302, Notice of Workshop, Aug. 21, 2015 at 108,

1 Statement of Chief of Staff Grant Hewitt (noting possibility of payments as early as January, but 2 no later than April). The State Treasurer has already begun allowing applicants to pre-register for 3 ESAs. See Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 9, Early Enrollment Form.

4 The Treasurer's office currently reports that over 3,500 have pre-registered for ESAs. Id.
5 at Exhibit 10. If the Treasurer diverts funding away from the public schools for these 3,500 ESAs,
6 he would deduct over $17.5 million from the public school districts budgets in the current school
7 year. If the over 20,000 students already enrolled in private schools in Nevada each obtained an 8 ESA, the yearly cost to Nevada's public schools under the voucher law would be over $102
9 million. The Treasurer's Office has estimated that full participation in the voucher program by 10 both Nevada's private school and home-based education populations would result in the reduction
11 of $200 million in public school district budgets. Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 8, Education
12 Savings Account – SB 302, Notice of Workshop, Aug. 21, 2015 at 67, Statement of Chief of Staff 13 Grant Hewitt (if all private and homeschooled children qualified for an ESA, "you'd have

15 E. Procedural Background

16 On September 9, 2015, Plaintiffs—parents and children enrolled in the Nevada public
17 schools—filed their Complaint, challenging the constitutionality of SB 302. On September 16, 18 2015, Putative Intervenor-Defendants filed a Motion to Intervene as Defendants and their putative

21 III. ARGUMENT

22 A. Standard for Preliminary Injunction

23 Nevada Rule of Civil Procedure 65 provides this Court with the authority to issue a 24 preliminary injunction here. By statute an injunction may issue:

- 25 1. When it shall appear by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled 26 to the relief demanded, and such relief or any part thereof consists in 27 restraining the commission or continuance of the act complained of,
28 either for a limited period or perpetually.

1 2. When it shall appear by the complaint or affidavit that the 2 commission or continuance of some act, during the litigation, would produce great or irreparable injury to the plaintiff.

3 3. When it shall appear, during the litigation, that the defendant is 4 doing or threatens, or is about to do, or is procuring or suffering to be done, some act in violation of the plaintiff's rights respecting the subject of the action, and tending to render the judgment ineffectual.

5 NRS 33.010.

6 Applying this statute, the Nevada Supreme Court has held that a preliminary injunction
7 should issue “upon a showing that the party seeking it enjoys a reasonable probability of success
8 on the merits and that the defendant's conduct, if allowed to continue, will result in irreparable
9 harm for which compensatory damage is an inadequate remedy.” Dixon v. Thatcher, 103 Nev.

13 injunctions, courts may also weigh the potential hardships to the relative parties and others, and the 14 public interest. University and Community College System of Nevada v. Nevadans for Sound

16 B. Plaintiffs Are Likely To Prevail On The Merits

17 The rules of statutory construction apply to the interpretation of a Constitutional provision.
18 As the Nevada Supreme Court has held, if a Constitutional provision “is clear and unambiguous,” 19 courts “will not look beyond the language of the provision but will instead apply its plain 20 meaning.” Lorton v. Jones, 322 P.3d 1051, 1054 (2014) (internal citations omitted); see also In re
21 Contested Election of Mallory, 128 Nev. Adv. Op. 41, 282 P.3d 739, 741 (2012) (Nevada courts 22 must “first look to the language itself and . . . give effect to its plain meaning.”); We the People

25 Article XI of the Nevada Constitution affirmatively and unambiguously obligates the 26 Legislature to establish, maintain and support a system of free and uniform public schools that all
27 Nevada children are entitled to attend. The Nevada Supreme Court has recognized that Article XI
28

1 of the Nevada Constitution “clearly expresses the vital role education plays in our state,” finding 2 that

3 [o]ur Constitution’s framers strongly believed that each child should have the 4 opportunity to receive a basic education. Their views resulted in a Constitution that 5 places great importance on education. Its provisions demonstrate that education is a 6 basic constitutional right in Nevada.

8 grounds by Nevadans for Nev. v. Beers, 122 Nev. 930, 142 P.3d 339 (2006).

9 The Education Article, by its clear and unambiguous terms, contains mandatory directives
10 to ensure the Legislature effectuates the “basic constitutional right” to education guaranteed to all 11 Nevada children. First, the Legislature must specifically appropriate funds for the maintenance of 12 the public schools and cannot use the funds appropriated for public education for any other
13 purpose. Second, the appropriations must be an amount deemed to be sufficient by the Legislature
14 to fund the operation of the public schools kindergarten through grade 12. Third, the Legislature
15 must provide a system of public schools that is uniform throughout the state. SB 302 violates each 16 of these explicit Constitutional mandates.

17 1. SB 302 Diverts Public School Funds From Public Schools to Private 18 Purposes in Violation of Article XI, Sections 3 and 6, of the Nevada
Constitution.

19 By its plain terms, the Education Article of the Nevada Constitution requires the 20 Legislature to “provide for the[] support and maintenance” of the common or public schools “by 21 direct legislative appropriation from the general fund.” Nev. Const. art. XI, § 6.1. The 22 appropriation for the public schools must occur “before any other appropriation is enacted to fund
23 a portion of the state budget for the next ensuing biennium.” Nev. Const. art XI, § 6.2. The direct
24 legislative appropriation can only be used “to fund the operation of the public schools in the State
25 for kindergarten through grade 12 for the next ensuing biennium for the population reasonably
26 estimated for that biennium.” Nev. Const. art. XI, § 6.2. “Any appropriation of money enacted in 27 violation of subsection 2. . . is void.” Nev. Const. art. XI, § 6.5. Likewise, Article XI, section 3, 28 specifies additional sources of funding for the public schools and also restricts the use of those

1 funds. Nev. Const. art. XI, § 3 (specifying funds “pledged for educational purposes” and stating
2 that “the money therefrom must not be transferred to other funds for other uses”).⁴

3 The debates of the founding delegates to the Nevada Constitutional Convention underscore
4 the founders’ intent that funds appropriated to the public schools be used only for that purpose.
5 Delegates were specific that Article XI makes reference “only to public schools, and to the 6 appropriation of the public funds . . . so that it has a direct reference to the public schools, and 7 clearly cannot refer to anything else.” DEBATES AND PROCEEDINGS at 568. Further, the delegates
8 explained that that funds appropriated by the Legislature pursuant to Article XI were for “the 9 support of good common schools . . . the support and encouragement of public instruction.” Id. at 10 594. This Constitutional mandate is affirmed by statute. Nevada Revised Statute 387.045 11 provides that “[n]o portion of the public school funds or of the money specially appropriated for 12 the purpose of public schools shall be devoted to any other object or purpose.” NRS 387.045.

13 Nevertheless, SB 302 explicitly authorizes the use of funds appropriated to the public
14 schools for prohibited, non-public educational purposes. It directs the State Treasurer to transfer 15 into private ESAs the basic support guarantee per-pupil funding appropriated by the Legislature for 16 the operation of the school district in which the ESA-eligible child resides. SB 302 § 16.1 (school 17 districts are entitled to their apportioned funds “minus . . . all the funds deposited in education 18 savings accounts established on behalf of children who reside in the county”). This diversion of 19 public schools funds is in direct contravention of the plain language and intent of Article XI, 20 sections 3, 6.2, and 6.5 of the Nevada Constitution.

21 The Legislature apparently understood that SB 302 runs afoul of this constitutional 22 mandate when it attempted to exclude ESAs from NRS 387.045 (prohibiting use of public school
23 funding for other purposes). But this attempt is of no legal consequence. To the extent that NRS
24

25 ⁴ The term “educational purposes” in Art. XI, section 3, refers specifically to the educational 26 system of the state, comprised of the State university and the public schools. See DEBATES AND 27 PROCEEDINGS at 579 (referring to Section 3 as a “public school fund” for the support of the State
28 University and common schools); see also State ex rel. Keith v. Westerfield, 23 Nev. 468, 49 P.
119, 121 (1897) (rejecting argument that the term “educational purposes” in Article XI, section 3 applies beyond public education).

1 387.045 codifies the requirement in Article XI, sections 3 and 6, that public school appropriations
2 are for the exclusive use of operating the public schools, the Legislature cannot by statutory 3 enactment exempt itself from that clear constitutional mandate. Whitehead v. Nevada Comm'n On 4 Judicial Discipline, 110 Nev. 128, 166, 906 P.2d 230, 254, decision clarified on denial of reh'g,
5 110 Nev. 380, 873 P.2d 946 (1994) (holding that the Legislature “may not authorize that which is 6 forbidden by the Constitution.”).

7 The Nevada Supreme Court has long held that Article XI prohibits the diversion of public
8 school funding to other uses. State ex rel. Keith v. Westerfield, 23 Nev. 468 (1897) (holding that 9 funds allocated to the general school fund are reserved solely for the public school system). As the 10 Supreme Court explained, funds appropriated for the public schools under Article XI can only be 11 used for “the support” of the public schools and no portion of those funds can be used to pay a 12 non-public school employee “without disregarding the mandates of the constitution.” Id. at 121.
13 Payments of such funds for any other purpose are “unconstitutional, null and void” Id.;⁵ see also 14 State ex rel. Wright v. Dovey, 19 Nev. 396, 12 P. 910, 912 (1887) (holding that “neither the 15 framers of the constitution nor the legislature intended to allow public-school moneys to any 16 county for persons not entitled to attend the public schools therein . . .”).

17 SB 302 expressly authorizes the diversion of funds appropriated by the Legislature for the 18 public schools, as well as funds set aside to the public schools pursuant to Section 3, to ESAs for 19 private expenses. Such a diversion directly violates Article XI, sections 3 and 6.2, and is,
20 therefore, “void.”

23 ⁵ The Westerfield court ultimately permitted the disputed payment out of the general fund rather 24 than the school fund, reasoning that the Legislature would have passed the small appropriation at 25 issue in that case ($45) even if taken out of the general fund. Westerfield, 49 P. at 121. The same
26 cannot be said here. As the State Treasurer acknowledges, implementation of SB 302 could cost 27 hundreds of millions of dollars, all of which will be deducted from the funding appropriated by the 28 Legislature for the operation of the public schools. Clancy Declaration at Exhibit 8, p.67. There is simply no evidence in the legislative record on SB 302 to suggest that the legislature would have passed the voucher law if it required a substantial new appropriation from the general fund, instead of relying on the transfer of an unlimited amount of existing appropriations to the public schools made under Art. XI, section 6.2.

1 2. SB 302 Reduces Public School Funding Below the Level Deemed
2 Sufficient by the Legislature in Violation of Article XI, Section 6, of the
3 Nevada Constitution

4 Article XI, section 6, directs the Legislature to provide the appropriations it “deems to be 5 sufficient,” to fund the operation of Nevada’s public schools for kindergarten through grade 12 for 6 the next ensuing biennium. Nev. Const. art. XI, § 6.2. This provision was an amendment to the 7 Constitution by a ballot initiative in 2006. See Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 11, State of Nevada,
8 Statewide Ballot Questions, 2006. The stated purpose of this amendment was “to ensure funding
9 of education be given the status intended” by the Constitutions’ framers and to “substantially
10 enhance[] Nevada’s credibility as a stable environment for students and teachers.” Id. at 4-5.

11 SB 302, by transferring funding appropriated by the Legislature for the public schools into 12 ESAs for private uses necessarily reduces the Legislature’s appropriations for the public schools
13 below the level deemed “sufficient” by the Legislature under Art. XI, section 6.2. As a result, SB 14 302, is unconstitutional and, under Art. XI, section 6.5, void.

15 It cannot be disputed that deducting over $5,000 for each ESA from the funds appropriated 16 and guaranteed to school districts will reduce that funding below the amount deemed sufficient by 17 the Legislature to operate the public schools. This is simple math — each ESA decreases district
18 funding by the amount deposited in the ESA. As discussed supra at II.D, the total reduction in the 19 Legislative allocation of funding to districts under SB 302 is not inconsequential but substantial.
20 Beyond this straightforward math, there are several additional reasons why the loss of funding
21 triggered by SB 302 will reduce the funding and resources below that deemed to be sufficient by 22 the Legislature in violation of Article XI, section 6.2.

23 First, SB 302 makes ESAs available to Nevada’s current private school and home-schooled
24 population. Students who never attended public school in the past can meet the 100-day 25 requirement with a single public school class and begin to receive funds, drawing millions of 26 dollars away from the public schools. See Section II.D, supra. These dollars are removed from 27 the school districts without any reduction in the enrollment on which the Legislature based the 28 sufficiency of the appropriations to operate the public schools. Thus, SB 302 will reduce the Legislature’s appropriation of funds below what it has deemed to be sufficient to operate the public

1 schools for “kindergarten through grade 12 for the next ensuing biennium for the population
2 reasonably estimated for that biennium.” Art. XI, section 6.2.

3 Second, SB 302 fails to take into account that the amounts appropriated and “deemed to be 4 sufficient. . . to fund the operation of the public schools,” Art. XI, section 6.2, includes not only 5 expenses that may vary due to changes in student enrollment, but also significant fixed costs.
6 When a student obtains an ESA under SB 302 and no longer attends a public school, the school
7 district loses the 90 or 100 percent of the amount of the guaranteed basic support yet retains the 8 fixed costs of educating that student and all the other students remaining in the district’s schools.
9 Declaration of Paul Johnson as Exhibit C, CFO for White Pine County School District (“Johnson
10 Declaration”), at ¶¶ 7-9 (stating that “if a student were to leave White Pine after obtaining an 11 ESA,” the district “would nevertheless maintain many of the fixed expenditures associated with 12 educating that child” including teachers and “school counselors, school administrators, school
13 resource officers, custodial staff, maintenance personnel, groundskeepers, bus routes, bus drivers, 14 nutrition programs, and other support services”).

15 The fixed costs of operating a system of public schools are not commensurately reduced by 16 losing one or even a handful of students. For example, the cost of a teacher remains unless there 17 is a sufficient decline in the number of students in a particular grade or school to allow for 18 eliminating the teaching position altogether. Nor can teachers easily be released mid-year.
19 Johnson Declaration at ¶ 8 (“pursuant to N.R.S. 391.3196, school districts must notify teachers by 20 May 1 if they will be reemployed for the ensuing school year. These staffing decisions are made 21 based on projected enrollment, and cannot be readily adjusted during the school year.”) Likewise,
22 the fixed costs associated with keeping a particular school operating in a safe and healthy
23 manner—janitorial positions, administration, utilities, maintenance, grounds keeping,
24 counseling—all of those expenses remain unless enrollment drops to the point where the district
25 can close a school. See Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 12, Nevada Legislative Counsel Bureau, 26 “2015 Nevada Education Data Book” at 84-89 (breaking down per-pupil expenditures into 27 categories that include fixed costs, such as operations and leadership).

1 Third, SB 302 fails to recognize that the estimated enrollment on which the Legislature
2 determines the sufficiency of the funding necessary to operate the public schools includes students
3 requiring additional staff and services and, therefore, are more costly to educate. As the 4 Legislature has acknowledged, educating students with disabilities in need of special education
5 services, English language learners, and students from lower socio-economic backgrounds require
6 more resources and funding. Id. at 91 (demonstrating increased per-pupil costs for Special
7 Education students, ELL students, and economically disadvantaged students).⁶

8 Thus, as funding is redirected to ESAs under SB 302, districts will have less funding—
9 below the level deemed to be sufficient under Art. XI, section 6.2—to provide the resources 10 essential to educate the significant numbers of students with greater needs: students with 11 disabilities; English language learners; students at risk due to household and neighborhood 12 poverty, homelessness and transiency; and students with other special needs who will remain in the 13 public schools. See, e.g. Lubienski Declaration at ¶ 20-21 (noting that typical effect of choice 14 systems is that students who are more expensive to educate stay in the public school system).

15 SB 302, by deducting substantial amounts from school district budgets for ESAs, reduces 16 the level of funding for the operation of the public schools below that which the Legislature has 17 deemed to be sufficient in its biennium appropriations for the maintenance and support of 18 Nevada’s public schools. As a result, SB 302, on its face, violates Art. XI, section 6.2, of the 19 Nevada Constitution.

20 3. SB 302 Violates the Mandate to Establish and Maintain a Uniform
21 System of Common Schools in Violation of Art. XI, Section 2, of the 22 Nevada Constitution

23 At the heart of the Education Article is the command that the Legislature establish and 24 maintain a “uniform” public school system. Nev. Const. art. XI, § 2. To ensure uniformity
25 consistent with this mandate, the Legislature has enacted an extensive framework of requirements
26 to ensure the public schools are open to all children and to provide them with a quality education

27 ⁶ Indeed, the Legislature in SB 302 itself recognized the higher cost of educating students with 28 disabilities and at-risk, low-income students by deducting not just 90 percent, but the full amount of the basic guaranteed support for those special needs students. SB 302, § 8.1(a).

1 as is their basic Constitutional entitlement. See e.g., NRS 388.450; 388.520; 388.405; 388.407
2 (providing specific standards for the instruction of ELL and special needs students); NRS 389, et
3 seq. (setting academic and testing standards for public schools); NRS 391.465 (establishing 4 statewide performance evaluation system for teachers).

5 SB 302 on its face violates this clear and unambiguous Constitutional requirement. SB 302
6 allows public school funds to pay for private schools and other entities that are not subject to the 7 requirements applied to public schools. The private schools, on-line programs and parents
8 receiving public school funds under SB 302 do not have to use the State adopted curriculum taught
9 in public schools, nor administer State assessments to determine whether students are achieving 10 State academic goals. While private schools and other entities under SB 302 have to give a norm-
11 referenced test in mathematics and English each year, SB 302 § 12(1)(a), there is no requirement
12 that the subjects be taught or that the assessment results will be used to evaluate performance in the 13 same manner that the public schools are held accountable. See id. Private schools can also 14 participate under SB 302 whether they are State licensed or not; approximately half of the private 15 schools in the state are not licensed. See Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 6, 2014-15 Private School
16 Reports; SB 302 § 11(1)(a). Indeed, every element designed to ensure uniformity and 17 accountability in the public school system—curriculum guidelines, testing requirements, teacher
18 qualifications—is inapplicable to the private schools and entities participating under SB 302.

19 Likewise, private schools and entities that accept ESA funds do not have to accept all 20 students. These schools and entities may discriminate based on a student's religion or lack thereof,
21 academic achievement, ELL status, disability, homelessness or transiency, gender, gender identity
22 and sexual orientation. Lubienski Declaration at ¶ 16 (identifying multiple Nevada private schools
23 with publically available admissions criteria that are facially discriminatory, e.g., requiring a 24 declaration of religious belief, agreement with a statement on sexuality, grade minimums, or a lack 25 of behavior problems, or charging more for English Language Learners). These schools can also 26 refuse to serve a student based on the student's socio-economic status and inability to pay tuition 27 that exceeds the voucher amount. Id. at ¶ 17.

1 Thus, SB 302 uses public monies for private schools and entities not subject to the legal
2 requirements and educational standards governing public schools, in violation of the uniformity
3 mandate of the Education Article. Cf. Bush v. Holmes, 919 So. 2d 392, 409-10 (Fla. 2006)
4 (holding Florida’s voucher system unconstitutionally non-uniform because private schools
5 receiving vouchers were not required to be accredited by the state or to adopt State-approved
6 curricula used by public schools, and could hire teachers without the training, education, and 7 background-check mandated for public school teachers).

8 SB 302 violates the Nevada Constitution’s uniformity requirement in an additional way. In 9 mandating the establishment and maintenance of a uniform public school system, the Constitution
10 has, in the same breath, prohibited the Legislature from establishing and maintaining a separate 11 alternative system to Nevada’s uniform public schools. “Nevada follows the maxim ‘expressio 12 unius est exclusio alterius,’ the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another,” State v. Javier 13 C., 128 Nev. Adv. Op. 50, 289 P.3d 1194, 1197 (2012), and “[t]his rule applies as forcibly to the 14 construction of written Constitutions as other instruments.” King v. Bd. of Regents of Univ. of 15 Nev., 65 Nev. 533, 556, 200 P.2d 221 (1948); see also Thomas v. Nev. Yellow Cab Corp., 130 Nev.
16 Adv. Op. 52, 327 P.3d 518, 521 (2014), reh’g denied (Sept. 24, 2014) (applying expressio unius 17 est exclusio alterius as canon of construction); Hernandez v. Bennett-Haron, 128 Nev. Adv. Op.
18 54, 287 P.3d 305, 316 (2012) (similar).

19 Pursuant to this fundamental principle, the Legislature is prohibited from enacting statutes
20 that are inconsistent and conflict with clear Constitutional mandates. The Nevada Supreme Court 21 has expressly held that “[e]very positive direction” in the Nevada Constitution “contains an 22 implication against anything contrary to it which would frustrate or disappoint the purpose of that 23 provision.” Galloway v. Truesdell, 83 Nev. 13, 26, 422 P.2d 237, 246 (1967) (citation omitted);
24 see also id. at 26 (holding that the “affirmation of a distinct policy upon any specific point in a
25 state constitution implies the negation of any power in the legislature to establish a different 26 policy”); Moore v. Humboldt Cnty., 48 Nev. 397, 232 P. 1078, 1079 (1925) (same). The 27 Legislature’s obligation under the Nevada Constitution to provide for the education of Nevada’s
28 children through the establishment of a uniform system of public schools simultaneously prohibits

1 the Legislature from enacting SB 302, a law that allows for the education of Nevada children
2 through a non-uniform means wholly separate and distinct from the uniform system of public 3 schools.

4 In Bush v. Holmes, 919 So. 2d 392 (Fla. 2006), the Florida Supreme Court interpreted that 5 state's constitutional provision requiring the Florida Legislature to create "a uniform, efficient,
6 safe, secure, and high quality system of free public schools," Fla. Const. art. IX, § 1, to forbid the 7 state from establishing a voucher system. Id. at 407. The court reasoned that the Florida
8 Constitution "mandates that a system of free public schools is the manner in which the State is to 9 provide a free education to the children of Florida' and that 'providing a free education . . . by 10 paying tuition . . . to attend private schools is a 'a substantially different manner' of providing a 11 publicly funded education than . . . the one prescribed by the Constitution." Id. (citation omitted).
12 In so holding, the Court expressly relied on the maxim of constitutional interpretation that "where 13 one method or means of exercising a power is prescribed in a constitution it excludes its exercise
14 in other ways.'" Id. (quoting S & J Transp., Inc. v. Gordon, 176 So. 2d 69, 71 (1965)). Similarly, 15 the Nevada Constitution mandates a uniform system of public schools, and SB 302, like the 16 voucher law struck down in Holmes, provides public funding to educate Nevada children in a
17 "substantially different manner" from the public schools. The Nevada Constitution's requirement
18 that the Legislature maintain a uniform system of public schools necessarily forbids the Legislature
19 from undermining that Constitutional obligation by deliberately siphoning funding from public 20 schools in order to pay for private schools and other programs that are wholly outside of the 21 uniform public school system. SB 302 is, therefore, unconstitutional under Art. XI, section 2, and 22 must be enjoined.

23 C. Plaintiffs Will Be Irreparably Harmed If a Preliminary Injunction Is Not
24 Issued

25 Because SB 302 violates the Nevada Constitution, the irreparable injury element is 26 satisfied. City of Sparks v. Sparks Mun. Court, 129 Nev. Adv. Op. 38, 302 P.3d 1118, 1124 (2013)
27 ("As a constitutional violation may be difficult or impossible to remedy through money damages, 28 such a violation may, by itself, be sufficient to constitute irreparable harm."); see also Monterey

1 Mech. Co. v. Wilson, 125 F.3d 702, 715 (9th Cir.1997); Eaves v. Bd. of Clark Cnty. Comm'rs, 96
2 Nev. 921, 924-25, 620 P.2d 1248 (1980) (finding statute unconstitutional and, thus, ordering trial
3 court to impose preliminary injunction without reaching irreparable harm requirement). That is the 4 end of the analysis.

5 Even if it were necessary to establish irreparable harm, which it is not, irreparable injury to 6 Nevada's public school children is readily established. The amount of funding that the voucher
7 law will divert from school district budgets is not de minimus, but substantial. If the Treasurer
8 diverts public school funding for just the 3,500 that have pre-registered for ESAs, he would deduct
9 over $17.5 million from the public school districts budgets in the current school year. Further, if 10 all of the over 20,000 students already enrolled in private schools obtained an ESA, the yearly cost
11 to Nevada's public schools of subsidizing their private school education under the voucher law
12 would be over $102 million. In fact, the Treasurer's Office has estimated that full participation in 13 the voucher program by Nevada's private school and home-based education students would result
14 in the reduction of $200 million in public school district budgets. Clancy Declaration, Exhibit 8, 15 Education Savings Account – SB 302, Notice of Workshop, Aug. 21, 2015 at 67, Statement of 16 Chief of Staff Grant Hewitt.

17 SB 302 will also necessitate frequent and unpredictable adjustments of public school
18 district budgets to the detriment of students in public schools. Pursuant to NRS 387.124 and SB
19 302, a district's apportionment is established on a quarterly basis based on the number of students
20 in each school district, "minus . . . all the funds deposited in education savings accounts 21 established on behalf of children who reside in the county." SB 302 § 16.1. The deduction of 22 ESA funds from each district's allocation will require quarterly adjustments to school district
23 budgets. NRS 387.124; Johnson Declaration at ¶ 12 (SB 302 will change a district's quarterly
24 enrollment "throughout the year"); id. at ¶ 12(a) (a district's "budgetary allotment will be adjusted
25 on a quarterly basis."). As school districts lose funding, they will be forced to make numerous
26 budget cutting decisions that will reduce their ability to adequately serve students. School districts
27 may have to halt necessary services for students, decrease curricular supplies, "eliminate teacher 28 resources and professional development programs which are critical to improving instruction at our schools,” and cut “extra and co-curricular activities like music programs and intramural sports” that provide “substantial benefits to students.” Declaration of Jeff Zander as Exhibit D, Superintendent of the Elko County School District at ¶ 6; see also Declaration of Jim McIntosh as Exhibit E, CFO for Clark County School District at ¶ 4 (“McIntosh Declaration”).

Further, some school districts may have to begin “seriously considering closing schools” and will be unable to afford to take on or hire new teachers such that “[c]lass sizes . . . would balloon.” Johnson Declaration, at ¶ 11. Even if a school district is able to make budgetary adjustments in the middle of the year or from year-to-year, those changes “would be incredibly disruptive to a school community.” Id. at ¶ 13. A school may be required to “revise its course offerings, change student schedules, and move students into different classrooms,” all of which “reduces the quality of education that schools are able to provide.” Id.; see also McIntosh Declaration, at ¶ 6.

SB 302’s diversion of funds further leaves school districts with insufficient means to afford the underlying fixed costs of operating the system. For example, if one student in a classroom of 30 leaves a school district after obtaining an ESA, the school district loses $5,139 to $5,710, but cannot eliminate the expense of “the teacher salary, as that teacher is still needed for the remaining 29 students,” nor “the bus used to transport that child, the custodial staff used to maintain that child’s classroom, or the nutritional staff used to provide food service to that student.” Johnson Declaration at ¶ 9. Accordingly the school district, “does not recoup the funding lost as a result of an ESA through savings of no longer having to serve that student” but rather “retains all of the fixed costs of educating that student.” Id. Because fixed costs “cannot be reduced,” school districts will be “forced to eliminate other services, like extracurricular activities that keep students invested in school, in order to make ends meet.” Id.; see also Zander Declaration at ¶ 5 (noting that fixed costs cannot be adjusted during the school year, especially in rural counties that cannot “easily transfer teachers to other positions or other schools . . . because those schools can be up to 100 miles apart”); McIntosh Declaration at ¶ 4.b.

Finally, SB 302 will concentrate the highest need students in public schools, increasing the per pupil education cost. Although the voucher amount is fixed at the statewide average basic

1 support guarantee, that amount does not reflect the substantial differences in education need and 2 cost among different student populations. Students with disabilities, English Language Learners,
3 and those from low income households and neighborhoods require additional resources and 4 interventions to achieve Nevada's academic standards. Voucher programs typically result in an
5 exit of students who are less costly to educate from the public schools, while those who are more
6 expensive to educate remain. Lubienski Declaration at ¶¶ 20-23 (explaining that private schools
7 select lower cost students, leaving public schools to serve those more expensive to educate and that 8 due to Nevada's anomalous lack of regulation "the segregative effects typically seen with choice
9 programs may be more pronounced"). By its operation, SB 302 will cause a rise in the average
10 cost-per-pupil for Nevada public school district while simultaneously reducing funding below 11 sufficiency levels.

12 The need for a preliminary injunction to prevent harm to Nevada's public school children is 13 manifest and urgent. As noted above, the Treasurer plans to accept applications for ESAs in 14 January and commence diverting funding from public schools pursuant to SB 302 this school year.
15 Thus, public school districts face the imminent threat of the loss of substantial amounts of 16 guaranteed state funding from their current school year budgets. This threatened disruption of the 17 public education system for hundreds of thousands of Nevada's children also outweighs any 18 hardships that Defendant could claim from delay in implementation of SB 302.

19 Nor will money damages compensate for the educational injury resulting from the 20 depletion of funding, and the budgetary instability, introduced by SB 302. A public school 21 student, whose classroom is disrupted by increased class sizes, reductions in resources, and 22 reduced programming, cannot get that instructional time back, impairing that child's Constitutional 23 right to a public education. Accordingly Plaintiffs have more than demonstrated a threat of 24 irreparable harm if the SB 302 is not enjoined by this court.

3 enjoining the Defendant State Treasure from implementing SB 302 and its regulations. A

Senate Bill No. 302–Senator Hammond

CHAPTER.....

AN ACT relating to education; establishing a program by which a child who receives instruction from a certain entity rather than from a public school may receive a grant of money in an amount equal to the statewide average basic support per-pupil; providing for the amount of each grant to be deducted from the total apportionment to the school district; providing a child who receives a grant and is not enrolled in a private school with certain rights and responsibilities; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law requires each child between the ages of 7 and 18 years to attend a public school of the State, attend a private school or be homeschooled. (NRS 392.040, 392.070) Existing law also provides for each school district to receive certain funding from local sources and to receive from the State an apportionment per pupil of basic support for the schools in the school district. (NRS 387.1235, 387.124) This bill establishes a program by which a child enrolled in a private school may receive a grant of money in an amount equal to 90 percent, or, if the child is a pupil with a disability or has a household income that is less than 185 percent of the federally designated level signifying poverty, 100 percent, of the statewide average basic support per pupil. Sections 7 and 8 of this bill allow a child to enroll part-time in a public school while receiving part of his or her instruction from an entity that participates in the program to receive a partial grant. Money from the grant may be used only for specified purposes.

Section 7 of this bill authorizes the parent of a child who is required to attend school and who has attended a public school for 100 consecutive school days to enter into an agreement with the State Treasurer, according to which the child will receive instruction from certain entities and receive the grant. Each agreement is valid for 1 school year but may be terminated early and may be renewed for any subsequent school year. Not entering into or renewing an agreement for any given school year does not preclude the parent from entering into or renewing an agreement for any subsequent year.

If such an agreement is entered into, an education savings account must be opened by the parent on behalf of the child. Under section 8 of this bill, for any school year for which the agreement is entered into or renewed, the State Treasurer must deposit the amount of the grant into the education savings account. Under section 16 of this bill, the amount of the grant must be deducted from the total apportionment to the resident school district of the child on whose behalf the grant is made. Section 8 provides that the State Treasurer may deduct from the amount of the grant not more than 3 percent for the administrative costs of implementing the provisions of this bill.

Section 9 of this bill lists the authorized uses of grant money deposited in an education savings account. Section 9 also prohibits certain refunds, rebates or sharing of payments made from money in an education savings account.

Under section 10 of this bill, the State Treasurer may qualify private financial management firms to manage the education savings accounts. The State Treasurer must establish reasonable fees for the management of the education savings accounts. Those fees may be paid from the money deposited in an education savings account.

Section 11 of this bill provides requirements for a private school, college or university, program of distance education, accredited tutor or tutoring facility or the parent of a child to participate in the grant program established by this bill by providing instruction to children on whose behalf the grants are made. The State Treasurer may refuse to allow such an entity to continue to participate in the program if the State Treasurer finds that the entity fails to comply with applicable provisions of law or has failed to provide educational services to a child who is participating in the program. Section 16.2 of this bill authorizes a child who is participating in the program to enroll in a program of distance education if the child is only receiving a portion of his or her instruction from a participating entity.

Under section 12 of this bill, each child on whose behalf a grant is made must take certain standardized examinations in mathematics and English language arts. Subject to applicable federal privacy laws, a participating entity must provide those test results to the Department of Education, which must aggregate the results and publish data on the results and on the academic progress of children on behalf of whom grants are made. Under section 13 of this bill, the State Treasurer must make available a list of all entities who are participating in the grant program, other than a parent of a child. Section 13 also requires the Department to require resident school districts to provide certain academic records to participating entities.

Sections 15.1 and 16.4 of this bill provide that a child who participates in the program but who does not enroll in a private school is an opt-in child. Section 16.4 requires the parent or guardian of such a child to notify the school district where the child would otherwise attend or the charter school in which the child was previously enrolled, as applicable.

Existing law requires the parent of a homeschooled child who wishes to participate in activities at a public school, including a charter school, through a school district or through the Nevada Interscholastic Activities Association to file a notice of intent to participate with the school district in which the child resides. (NRS 386.430, 386.580, 392.705) Section 16.5 of this bill enacts similar requirements for the parents of an opt-in child who wishes to participate with the school district. Sections 15.2 and 15.3 of this bill authorize an opt-in child to participate in the Nevada Youth Legislature. Sections 15.4-15.8 and 16.7 of this bill authorize an opt-in child to participate in activities at a public school, through a school district or through the Nevada Interscholastic Activities Association if the parent files a notice of intent to participate. Section 16.6 of this bill requires an opt-in child who wishes to enroll in a public high school to provide proof demonstrating competency in courses required for promotion to high school similar to that required of a homeschooled child who wishes to enroll in a public high school.

Section 14 of this bill provides that the provisions of this bill may not be deemed to infringe on the independence or autonomy of any private school or to make the actions of a private school the actions of the government of this State. Section 15.9 of this bill exempts grants deposited in an education savings account from a prohibition on the use of public school funds for other purposes.

Existing law requires children who are suspended or expelled from a public school for certain reasons to enroll in a private school or program of independent study or be homeschooled. (NRS 392.466) Section 16.8 of this bill authorizes such a child to be an opt-in child.

EXPLANATION – Matter in bolded italics is new; matter between brackets ~~omitted material~~ is material to be omitted.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Chapter 385 of NRS is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 2 to 15, inclusive, of this act.

Sec. 2. As used in sections 2 to 15, inclusive, of this act, unless the context otherwise requires, the words and terms defined in sections 3 to 6, inclusive, of this act have the meanings ascribed to them in those sections.

Sec. 3. “Education savings account” means an account established for a child pursuant to section 7 of this act.

Sec. 3.5. “Eligible institution” means:

1. A university, state college or community college within the Nevada System of Higher Education; or

2. Any other college or university that:

(a) Was originally established in, and is organized under the laws of, this State;

(b) Is exempt from taxation pursuant to 26 U.S.C. § 501(c)(3); and

(c) Is accredited by a regional accrediting agency recognized by the United States Department of Education.

Sec. 4. “Parent” means the parent, custodial parent, legal guardian or other person in this State who has control or charge of a child and the legal right to direct the education of the child.

Sec. 5. “Participating entity” means a private school that is licensed pursuant to chapter 394 of NRS or exempt from such licensing pursuant to NRS 394.211, an eligible institution, a program of distance education that is not offered by a public school or the Department, a tutor or tutoring agency or a parent that has provided to the State Treasurer the application described in subsection 1 of section 11 of this act.

Sec. 5.5. “Program of distance education” has the meaning ascribed to it in NRS 388.829.

Sec. 6. “Resident school district” means the school district in which a child would be enrolled based on his or her residence.

Sec. 7. 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 10, the parent of any child required by NRS 392.040 to attend a public school who has been enrolled in a public school in this State during the period immediately preceding the establishment of an education savings account pursuant to this section for not less than 100 school days without interruption may establish an education savings account for the child by entering into a written agreement with the State Treasurer, in a manner and on a form provided by the State Treasurer. The agreement must provide that:

(a) The child will receive instruction in this State from a participating entity for the school year for which the agreement applies;

(b) The child will receive a grant, in the form of money deposited pursuant to section 8 of this act in the education savings account established for the child pursuant to subsection 2;

(c) The money in the education savings account established for the child must be expended only as authorized by section 9 of this act; and

(d) The State Treasurer will freeze money in the education savings account during any break in the school year, including any break between school years.

2. If an agreement is entered into pursuant to subsection 1, an education savings account must be established by the parent on behalf of the child. The account must be maintained with a financial management firm qualified by the State Treasurer pursuant to section 10 of this act.

3. The failure to enter into an agreement pursuant to subsection 1 for any school year for which a child is required by NRS 392.040 to attend a public school does not preclude the parent of the child from entering into an agreement for a subsequent school year.

4. An agreement entered into pursuant to subsection 1 is valid for 1 school year but may be terminated early. If the agreement is terminated early, the child may not receive instruction from a public school in this State until the end of the period for which the last deposit was made into the education savings account pursuant to section 8 of this act, except to the extent the pupil was allowed to receive instruction from a public school under the agreement.

5. An agreement terminates automatically if the child no longer resides in this State. In such a case, any money remaining in the education savings account of the child reverts to the State General Fund.

6. An agreement may be renewed for any school year for which the child is required by NRS 392.040 to attend a public school. The failure to renew an agreement for any school year does not preclude the parent of the child from renewing the agreement for any subsequent school year.

7. A parent may enter into a separate agreement pursuant to subsection 1 for each child of the parent. Not more than one education savings account may be established for a child.

8. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 10, the State Treasurer shall enter into or renew an agreement pursuant to this section with any parent of a child required by NRS 392.040 to attend a public school who applies to the State Treasurer in the manner provided by the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer shall make the application available on the Internet website of the State Treasurer.

9. Upon entering into or renewing an agreement pursuant to this section, the State Treasurer shall provide to the parent who enters into or renews the agreement a written explanation of the authorized uses, pursuant to section 9 of this act, of the money in an education savings account and the responsibilities of the parent and the State Treasurer pursuant to the agreement and sections 2 to 15, inclusive, of this act.

10. A parent may not establish an education savings account for a child who will be homeschooled, who will receive instruction outside this State or who will remain enrolled full-time in a public school, regardless of whether such a child receives instruction from a participating entity. A parent may establish an education savings account for a child who receives a portion of his or her instruction from a public school and a portion of his or her instruction from a participating entity.

Sec. 8. 1. If a parent enters into or renews an agreement pursuant to section 7 of this act, a grant of money on behalf of the child must be deposited in the education savings account of the child.

2. Except as otherwise provided in subsections 3 and 4, the grant required by subsection 1 must, for the school year for which the grant is made, be in an amount equal to:

(a) For a child who is a pupil with a disability, as defined in NRS 388.440, or a child with a household income that is less than 185 percent of the federally designated level signifying poverty, 100 percent of the statewide average basic support per pupil; and

(b) For all other children, 90 percent of the statewide average basic support per pupil.

3. If a child receives a portion of his or her instruction from a participating entity and a portion of his or her instruction from a public school, for the school year for which the grant is made, the grant required by subsection 1 must be in a pro rata based on amount the percentage of the total instruction provided to the child by the participating entity in proportion to the total instruction provided to the child.

4. The State Treasurer may deduct not more than 3 percent of each grant for the administrative costs of implementing the provisions of sections 2 to 15, inclusive, of this act.

5. The State Treasurer shall deposit the money for each grant in quarterly installments pursuant to a schedule determined by the State Treasurer.

6. Any money remaining in an education savings account:

(a) At the end of a school year may be carried forward to the next school year if the agreement entered into pursuant to section 7 of this act is renewed.

(b) When an agreement entered into pursuant to section 7 of this act is not renewed or is terminated, because the child for whom the account was established graduates from high school or for any other reason, reverts to the State General Fund at the end of the last day of the agreement.

Sec. 9. 1. Money deposited in an education savings account must be used only to pay for:

(a) Tuition and fees at a school that is a participating entity in which the child is enrolled;

(b) Textbooks required for a child who enrolls in a school that is a participating entity;

(c) Tutoring or other teaching services provided by a tutor or tutoring facility that is a participating entity;

(d) Tuition and fees for a program of distance education that is a participating entity;

(e) Fees for any national norm-referenced achievement examination, advanced placement or similar examination or standardized examination required for admission to a college or university;

(f) If the child is a pupil with a disability, as that term is defined in NRS 388.440, fees for any special instruction or special services provided to the child;

(g) Tuition and fees at an eligible institution that is a participating entity;

(h) Textbooks required for the child at an eligible institution that is a participating entity or to receive instruction from any other participating entity;

(i) Fees for the management of the education savings account, as described in section 10 of this act;

(j) Transportation required for the child to travel to and from a participating entity or any combination of participating entities up to but not to exceed $750 per school year; or

-7-

(k) Purchasing a curriculum or any supplemental materials required to administer the curriculum.

2. A participating entity that receives a payment authorized by subsection 1 shall not:

(a) Refund any portion of the payment to the parent who made the payment, unless the refund is for an item that is being returned or an item or service that has not been provided; or

(b) Rebate or otherwise share any portion of the payment with the parent who made the payment.

3. A parent who receives a refund pursuant to subsection 2 shall deposit the refund in the education savings account from which the money refunded was paid.

4. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit a parent or child from making a payment for any tuition, fee, service or product described in subsection 1 from a source other than the education savings account of the child.

Sec. 10. 1. The State Treasurer shall qualify one or more private financial management firms to manage education savings accounts and shall establish reasonable fees, based on market rates, for the management of education savings accounts.

2. An education savings account must be audited randomly each year by a certified or licensed public accountant. The State Treasurer may provide for additional audits of an education savings account as it determines necessary.

3. If the State Treasurer determines that there has been substantial misuse of the money in an education savings account, the State Treasurer may:

(a) Freeze or dissolve the account, subject to any regulations adopted by the State Treasurer providing for notice of such action and opportunity to respond to the notice; and

Except as otherwise provided in NRS 387.1244, the apportionment to a school district, computed on a yearly basis, equals the difference between the basic support and the local funds available pursuant to NRS 387.1235, minus all the funds attributable to pupils who reside in the county but attend a charter school, all the funds attributable to pupils who reside in the county and are enrolled full-time or part-time in a program of distance education provided by another school district or a charter school, ~~and~~ all the funds attributable to pupils who are enrolled in a university school for profoundly gifted pupils located in the county ~~H~~ and all the funds deposited in education savings accounts established on behalf of children who reside in the county pursuant to sections 2 to 15, inclusive, of this act. No apportionment may be made to a school district if the amount of the local funds exceeds the amount of basic support.

2. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 3 and NRS 387.1244, the apportionment to a charter school, computed on a yearly basis, is equal to the sum of the basic support per pupil in the county in which the pupil resides plus the amount of local funds available per pupil pursuant to NRS 387.1235 and all other funds available for public schools in the county in which the pupil resides minus the sponsorship fee prescribed by NRS 386.570 and minus all the funds attributable to pupils who are enrolled in the charter school but are concurrently enrolled part-time in a program of distance education provided by a school district or another charter school. If the apportionment per pupil to a charter school is more than the amount to be apportioned to the school district in which a pupil who is enrolled in the charter school resides, the school district in which the pupil resides shall pay the difference directly to the charter school.

3. Except as otherwise provided in NRS 387.1244, the apportionment to a charter school that is sponsored by the State Public Charter School Authority or by a college or university within the Nevada System of Higher Education, computed on a yearly basis, is equal to the sum of the basic support per pupil in the county in which the pupil resides plus the amount of local funds available per pupil pursuant to NRS 387.1235 and all other funds available for public schools in the county in which the pupil resides, minus the sponsorship fee prescribed by NRS 386.570 and minus all funds attributable to pupils who are enrolled in the charter school but are concurrently enrolled part-time in a program of distance education provided by a school district or another charter school.

4. Except as otherwise provided in NRS 387.1244, in addition to the apportionments made pursuant to this section, an apportionment must be made to a school district or charter school that provides a program of distance education for each pupil who is enrolled part-time in the program. The amount of the apportionment must be equal to the percentage of the total time services are provided to the pupil through the program of distance education per school day in proportion to the total time services are provided during a school day to pupils who are counted pursuant to subparagraph (2) of paragraph (a) of subsection 1 of NRS 387.1233 for the school district in which the pupil resides.

5. The governing body of a charter school may submit a written request to the Superintendent of Public Instruction to receive, in the first year of operation of the charter school, an apportionment 30 days before the apportionment is required to be made pursuant to subsection 1. Upon receipt of such a request, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may make the apportionment 30 days before the apportionment is required to be made. A charter school may receive all four apportionments in advance in its first year of operation.

6. Except as otherwise provided in NRS 387.1244, the apportionment to a university school for profoundly gifted pupils, computed on a yearly basis, is equal to the sum of the basic support per pupil in the county in which the university school is located plus the amount of local funds available per pupil pursuant to NRS 387.1235 and all other funds available for public schools in the county in which the university school is located. If the apportionment per pupil to a university school for profoundly gifted pupils is more than the amount to be apportioned to the school district in which the university school is located, the school district shall pay the difference directly to the university school. The governing body of a university school for profoundly gifted pupils may submit a written request to the Superintendent of Public Instruction to receive, in the first year of operation of the university school, an apportionment 30 days before the apportionment is required to be made pursuant to subsection 1. Upon receipt of such a request, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may make the apportionment 30 days before the apportionment is required to be made. A university school for profoundly gifted pupils may receive all four apportionments in advance in its first year of operation.

7. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall apportion, on or before August 1 of each year, the money designated as the "Nutrition State Match" pursuant to NRS 387.105 to those school districts that participate in the National School Lunch Program, 42 U.S.C. §§ 1751 et seq. The apportionment to a school district must be directly related to the district's reimbursements for the Program as compared with the total amount of reimbursements for all school districts in this State that participate in the Program.

8. If the State Controller finds that such an action is needed to maintain the balance in the State General Fund at a level sufficient to pay the other appropriations from it, the State Controller may pay out the apportionments monthly, each approximately one-twelfth of the yearly apportionment less any amount set aside as a reserve. If such action is needed, the State Controller shall submit a report to the Department of Administration and the Fiscal Analysis Division of the Legislative Counsel Bureau documenting reasons for the action.

Sec. 16.2. NRS 388.850 is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. An opt-in child who is exempt from compulsory attendance is not eligible to enroll in or otherwise attend a program of distance education, regardless of whether the child is otherwise eligible for enrollment pursuant to subsection 1, unless the opt-in child receives only a portion of his or her instruction from a participating entity as authorized pursuant to section 7 of this act.

The board of trustees of each school district shall, in a timely manner, make only the form developed by the Department available to parents of opt-in children.*

2. If an opt-in child wishes to participate in classes, activities, programs, sports or interscholastic activities and events at a public school or through a school district, or through the Nevada Interscholastic Activities Association, the parent of the child must file a current notice of intent to participate with the resident school district.

The policy must include the criteria for eligibility of a pupil to be placed on academic probation. A parent or guardian may elect not to place his or her child on academic probation but to remain in grade 8.

Thursday.] BROSNAN—JOHNSON—WARWICK—COLLINS—McCLINTON—HAWLEY.

[July 21.]

Mr. BROSNAN. It will be necessary to use the words "commencing on."

Mr. JOHNSON. No; not "commencing on." The terms of the other officers commence on Tuesday; if you say "from the first Monday," the term will commence on Tuesday, like other officers.

Mr. BROSNAN. Very well; then let it read "from the first Monday in January."

The question was taken on the amendment as modified, and it was adopted.

The question was taken on the adoption of Section 1 as amended, and it was adopted.

SECTARIAN INSTRUCTION.

The SECRETARY read Section 2, as follows:

SEC. 2. The Legislature shall provide for a uniform system of common schools, by which a school shall be established and maintained in each school district, at least six months in every year; and any school district neglecting to establish and maintain such a school, or which shall allow instruction of a sectarian character therein, may be deprived of its proportion of the interest of the public school fund during such neglect or infraction, and the Legislature may pass such laws as will tend to secure a general attendance of the children in each school district upon said public schools.

Mr. WARWICK. Will the Chairman of the committee explain a little, as to what is meant here by "sectarian?" It says that any school district "which shall allow instruction of a sectarian character therein, may be deprived of its proportion of the interest of the public school fund," etc. Does that mean that they have no right to maintain Catholic schools, for example?

Mr. COLLINS. This provision has reference only to public schools, organized under the general laws of the State. It is not to be supposed that the laws enacted under it will stand in the way of, or prevent any Catholic school from being organized or carried on; but the provision prevents the introduction of sectarianism into the public schools.

Mr. WARWICK. That is entirely proper, but it seems to me that it might better be worded a little differently. It says, "which shall allow instruction of a sectarian character therein"—not in the school, but in the district. I do not suppose that is the intention.

Mr. COLLINS. You will find that it has reference only to public schools, and to the appropriation of the public funds. If they permit sectarian instruction, they are deprived of the use of the public funds, so that it has direct reference to the public schools, and clearly cannot refer to anything else.

Mr. WARWICK. I would like to examine that a little more carefully.

Mr. McCLINTON. I think all the objection can be easily obviated, and leave the section substantially as it is, by making a very slight change. Suppose we say, "in the public schools of said district."

Mr. WARWICK. That is the idea, exactly. It seems to me, as it now reads—and the gentleman will correct me if I am wrong—that it is not in the school, but in the school district that shall establish or allow instruction of a sectarian character, that this penalty is to be applied. It says:

"And any school district neglecting to establish and maintain such a school, or which shall allow instruction of a sectarian character therein, may be deprived," etc.

The word "district" evidently governs the sentence, and that is where the change ought to be made, so that the prohibition of sectarian instruction may apply, not to the districts, but to the schools.

Mr. McCLINTON. I will make a motion to amend the section by striking out the word "therein," and inserting instead the words, "in the public schools of said district."

Mr. HAWLEY. I wish to inquire of the gentleman from Lander whether he imagines that the language of the section as it now stands would make any difference in regard to payments of the school-money, under the law, in a case, for instance, where, under the laws of the State, parties may have organized a Catholic school, entirely separate and distinct from the public schools? Does the gentleman think that the mere fact of the existence of that Catholic school in the district could have any possible influence in preventing the payment of the school-money under the law? In other words, I ask him whether he believes that any school district could be held responsible for the action of private parties, in organizing sectarian schools within such district?

Mr. WARWICK. No, sir; that would be manifestly unjust, and that is the reason why I want this amendment. I do not want the school district to lose on account of the establishment of a Catholic school, a Methodist, a Baptist, or any other school, and therefore I say the language should be such as will not be open to the slightest imputation of that construction.

Mr. HAWLEY. Very well; I will consent to the amendment, so far as I am concerned.

Mr. COLLINS. I wish to call the attention of the Convention one moment to the language of the section as it now stands. I desire to make any change that will be an improvement, but if the sentence is already clear, we should certainly take care to avoid tautology. Now I will read the section again, and emphasize the words as I think they ought to be, and gentlemen will see, I think, that a multiplication of those phrases is scarcely necessary, and certainly it would not sound very well. If we can secure the same sense, without a change of phraseology that would destroy the euphony of the sentence, we should certainly do so, in accordance with the laws of composition. Now let us see how it should read:

"The Legislature shall provide for a uniform system of common schools, by which a school shall be established and maintained in each school district, at least six months in every year."

The subject of the sentence is "common schools," and "a school" to be established "in each school district." These are the words for the distribution of the school fund to school districts, during the first year of their organization, without reference to the time that a school has been held therein."

The question was taken, and the amendment was not agreed to.

PENALTY FOR NEGLECT.

The question was next stated on the amendment offered by Mr. Banks, as subsequently modified, to strike out the whole of Section 2, and insert instead the following :

"Sec. 2. The Legislature shall provide for a uniform system of common schools, by which a school shall be maintained in each school district, at least six months in every year ; but no sectarian instruction shall be allowed in any public school so established."

Mr. BROSNAN. Now, sir, I move to amend that amendment, as just read, by adding thereto the following words, which I find here in the section as reported by the Committee on Education :

"And any school district neglecting to establish and maintain such a school, or which shall allow instruction of a sectarian character therein, may be deprived of its proportion of the interest of the public school fund during such neglect or infraction."

Mr. BANKS. While I do not see any obvious necessity for that, I see no objection to it, and therefore I accept the amendment.

The question was taken on the amendment as thus modified, and it was not agreed to.

The question was taken on the adoption of Section 2 as reported, and it was adopted.

THE SCHOOL FUNDS.

Section 3 was read as follows :

Sec. 3. All lands, including the 500,000 acres of land granted to the new States under an Act of Congress distributing the proceeds of the public lands among the several States of the Union, approved A. D. 1811 ; the sixteenth and thirty-second sections in every township, donated for the benefit of public schools, set forth in the Act of the thirty-eighth Congress, to enable the people of Nevada Territory to form a State Government ; the thirty thousand acres of public lands granted by an Act of Congress, and approved July 2, 1852, for each Senator and Representative in Congress ; and all lands and parcels of lands that have been or may hereafter be granted or appropriated by the United States to this State ; all estates that may escheat to the State ; all of such per cent. as may be granted by Congress on the sale of land ; all fines collected under the penal laws of the State ; all property given or bequeathed to the State for educational purposes ; and all proceeds derived from any or all of said sources, shall be, and the same are hereby solemnly pledged for educational purposes, and shall not be transferred to any other fund for other uses ; and the interest thereon shall, from time to time, be apportioned among the several counties, in proportion to the ascertained numbers of the persons between the ages of six and eighteen years in the different counties. And the Legislature shall provide for the sale of floating land-warrants to cover the aforesaid lands, and for the investment of all proceeds derived from any of the above-mentioned sources in United States bonds, or the bonds of this State ; provided, that the interest only of the aforesaid proceeds shall be used for educational purposes, and any surplus interest shall be added to the principal sum ; and provided further, that such portion of said interest as may be necessary, may be appropriated for the support of the State University.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

Mr. DUNNE. I wish to speak to the last proviso, which authorizes the appropriation of such portion of the interest on the public school fund as may be necessary for the support of a State University. I find that special provision is made in the next section for a State University, and in a subsequent section there is a provision for levying a special tax for its support. Now I am entirely in favor of taxing the State for a State University, whenever the State can afford it. I believe, however, in turning our undivided attention, in the first place, to the common school system of the State, and I do not think that the interest derived from the school fund should be taken from the common schools and applied to the purpose of building up a State University. Therefore, because there is special provision made elsewhere for a State University, and because we ought to endeavor, in the first place, to secure to our children the advantages of a good common school system, I move that this last proviso in Section 3 be stricken out.

Mr. HAWLEY. Allow me to call the gentleman's attention, and that of the Convention, to the language of that section. It only provides for the appropriation of "such portion of said interest as may be necessary."

Mr. DUNNE. I am aware of that.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment to strike out the last proviso in the section.

Mr. HAWLEY. It does seem to me, Mr. Chairman, that this is a matter which should be left discretionary with the Legislature. I do not think there is any danger that a body of men, elected by the people, and convened here to legislate for the interests of the new State, are going so blindly to work as to appropriate at once, and exclusively, the entire sum received for interest on the public school fund to the support of a State University, leaving the common schools entirely unprovided for. The gentleman from Humboldt must be well aware that to create a State University, to build up its various departments, and fill it with professors, is a work of time. It will, of course, be the duty of the Legislature, first, to locate and rear the structure, and it does seem to me that the Legislature will, beyond any doubt or question, agree with the gentleman from Humboldt, and the rest of us, in realizing the paramount necessity of preparing the new State for a University before they build it—of placing both parents and children in such a position, in the first place, that they may be competent to avail themselves of the advantages of a University. Therefore, I trust that the amendment will not prevail.

I desire, further, to call the attention of the gentleman to another provision in Section 6—the section which authorizes the special tax, to which he has referred—a provision which he has evidently overlooked. The section prescribes that this special tax may be appropriated "for the support and maintenance of said University, and common schools." Now I submit consideration, and the Chair understood the gentleman from Lyon to offer a substitute. Does he withdraw it, or insist upon it?

Mr. CROSMAN. I do not know that I understand the purport of the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Storey. (Mr. Collins.) Is it different from the report of the committee?

Mr. COLLINS. Yes, sir.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair will state that there appears to be only a little difference in the language, but no real difference in the meaning.

Mr. DUNNE. I wish to address a remark to the gentleman from Storey. The word "interest" having been stricken out by his amendment, leaves the word "principal" alone. Now would it not be better to use the word "capital"?

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman is not in order. That amendment will not come up until the section is reached.

Mr. DUNNE. I understood the Chair to state the question on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Storey.

The CHAIRMAN. It is the amendment to Section 4. No other section is now under consideration.

Mr. COLLINS. I will state that my amendment is—although I am more than half inclined to leave the subject entirely to the Legislature—to provide that the Legislature shall appoint a Board of Regents, and said Board of Regents shall prescribe rules and regulations for the State University.

Mr. CROSMAN. Then I do not withdraw my motion. I think this amendment is much more concise and to the purpose, providing that the Legislature shall provide for the University and Mining Department. I want the Legislature simply to provide for the University, and then let it be under the control and management of the Board of Regents, as provided by law.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I understand that the amendment of the gentleman from Storey (Mr. Collins) provides, in the first place, that the Board of Regents shall prescribe regulations for the University, and that then the section goes on to say, that pupils shall be admitted under the rules and regulations prescribed by that Board. If that is so, it looks to me like tautology.

Mr. DUNNE. It appears to me that this matter is getting very much mixed. I move that the committee rise, and recommend that the report be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. COLLINS. I think the amendment of the gentleman from Lyon (Mr. Crosmen) is very complete, and all that is required. It is only a moment's work to agree upon it, so as to be satisfactory to all.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman from Humboldt insist on his motion?

Mr. DUNNE. Yes, sir.

Mr. FRIZELL. I hope it will not prevail. They can get the section perfected in a moment.

The question was taken on the motion that the committee rise, and it was not agreed to.

Mr. COLLINS. This seems now to embrace all that is needed. I will read it:

Sec. 4. The Legislature shall provide for a State University, embracing departments for agriculture, mechanic arts, and mining, to be under the control of a Board of Regents, as may be provided for by law.

Mr. CROSMAN. I accept that.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I desire to suggest to the gentleman to put in the first line there, the words "for the establishment of." It seems to infer that, as it is, but it will make the language clearer.

Mr. COLLINS. Very well; I will insert that, if there is no objection, and will make another slight correction.

The SECRETARY read the amendment as finally modified, as follows:

Sec. 4. The Legislature shall provide for the establishment of a State University, which shall embrace departments for agriculture, mechanic arts, and mining, to be controlled by a Board of Regents, whose duties shall be prescribed by law."

The question was taken on the adoption of the amendment, as a substitute for the section originally reported by the Committee on Education, and it was adopted.

ESTABLISHMENT OF SCHOOLS.

Section 5 was read, as follows:

Sec. 5. The Legislature shall have power to establish Normal Schools, and such different grades of schools, from the primary department to the University, as in their discretion they may see fit; and all professors in said University, or teachers in said common schools, or whatever grade, shall be required to take and subscribe to the oath as prescribed in Article XVI of this Constitution. No professor or teacher who fails to comply with the provisions of any law framed in accordance with the provisions of this section, shall be entitled to receive any portion of the public moneys set apart for school purposes.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. I do not desire to delay action, but just to take the sense of the Convention. I move to strike out in the second line the words "normal schools." The Legislature is authorized to establish all grades of schools, and it is not necessary to mention normal schools specially.

The question was taken, and the amendment was not agreed to.

The question was taken on the adoption of the section as read, and it was adopted.

SPECIAL SCHOOL TAX.

Section 6 was read, as follows:

Sec. 6. The Legislature shall provide a special tax of one-half of one mill on the dollar of all taxable property in the State, in addition to the other means provided for the support and maintenance of said University and common schools; provide that at the end of ten years they may reduce said tax to one quarter of one mill on each dollar of taxable property.

Mr. CHAPIN. Before this section is adopted I would like to suggest whether it is not desirable to make one alteration. There seems to be provision made in a previous part of the article for a school fund, which may be entirely ample, and I would like to alter this language, where it says the Legislature shall provide a special tax of one-half of one mill on the dollar. I move to strike out the word "shall," and insert, "may in its discretion."

DUNNE—CHAPIN—COLLINS—FRIZELL—NOURSE.

[July 22.]

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. DUNNE. What is the use, now, of the proviso at the end of the section?

Mr. CHAPIN. I move to strike out the proviso also.

Mr. DUNNE. I want that word "shall" put in again, and I hope it will be.

Mr. COLLINS. I regret that it has been stricken out, for I am confident the Board of Regents will have great difficulty in getting funds. It is always the case that institutions of this character are embarrassed for the want of funds and I hope the committee will reconsider that amendment.

Mr. FRIZELL. There is no doubt that if any funds shall be needed for the State University, or for the support of normal or other schools, they will be provided. There will be American citizens in the Legislature, and if the money is needed, and they may in their discretion appropriate it, the Legislature will vote the required amount of money. There can be no doubt about that. On the contrary, it appears that there is ample provision made by this article, both for the schools and the University, and consequently it may be that no special tax will be needed. Now which horn of the dilemma is it best for us to take? I say we had better leave it to the discretion of the Legislature, because it is certain that the tax will be levied, if it is needed.

Mr. CHAPIN. I hope my amendment will be adopted striking out the proviso. Every gentleman knows that the hearts of our people are set on the common schools; and who can doubt that the Legislature, representing such a people, will levy a tax if there shall be any occasion for it? But I do not believe in compelling the Legislature to burden us with a tax, unless it shall be really needed; therefore I trust that the proviso will be stricken out.

Mr. COLLINS. The committee had in view the difficulties which every new State has encountered in the establishment of State Universities and the maintaining of the common school interest. Now this section contemplates that the Board of Regents will set aside the proceeds of this tax of one half mill upon a dollar for the special purpose of creating a fund, to be allowed to accumulate until there shall be money sufficient to lay the foundation of an institution such as the wants of the State may demand. Having the proceeds of the thirty thousand acres for each member of Congress, which will be ninety thousand acres for this State, they may set that apart as a permanent fund for the support and maintenance of professors in the University. If this matter of the special tax is left to the Legislature, what will be the result? That body will be under a pressure, a terrible pressure I have no doubt, which will impel them to postpone the tax from year to year; whereas, if the tax were levied at once, a small tax that nobody would really feel, it would go on gradually accumulating into a fund of some magnitude, until five, ten, or twenty years hence, as the case may be, it will become sufficient in the aggregate to lay the foundation of an institution that will be a benefit and an honor to the State. I hope we shall not neglect to provide for an important matter like this, while we are still in an embryo state. I do not believe that the Legislature is likely to be as earnest in this matter of education as gentlemen appear to anticipate. The Legislature of last winter demonstrated the fact that it did not possess that degree of earnestness on the subject that I had hoped existed. I trust, therefore, that we shall make such provisions in our Constitution that men coming into our State may come with a full conviction and assurance that a proper foundation has been laid for affording the means of instruction to their children as they grow up, without the necessity of sending them to other States to be educated.

The question was taken on Mr. Chapin's amendment to strike out the proviso, and it was agreed to.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the section as amended, and it was adopted.

THE BOARD OF REGENTS.

Section 7 was read, as follows:

SEC. 7. The Governor, Secretary of State, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, shall for the first four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified, be a Board of Regents to control and manage the affairs of the University, and the funds of the same, under such regulations as may be provided by law; but the Legislature shall, at the expiration of that time, provide for the election of a Board of Regents, and define their duties.

Mr. CHAPIN. I move that the section be adopted as read.

Mr. NOURSE. I suggest that the words "at the expiration of that time," do not come in at the right place. It seems to me that they should be inserted after the words, "Board of Regents," where they last occur, so as to read: "but the Legislature shall provide for the election of a Board of Regents at the expiration of that time, and define their duties." As it is now, it would seem to imply that the period for any action of the Legislature will not arrive until the expiration of that time.

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman make any motion?

Mr. NOURSE. I will move that the language be transposed so that the words "at the expiration of that time," shall come next after the word "Regents," where it last occurs in the section.

The Secretary read the section as proposed to be amended.

STURTEVANT—DUNNE—WARWICK—BANKS—HAWLEY.

[July 22.]

Mr. STURTEVANT. I hope the gentleman will bear in mind that the mines are not to be taxed for the support of that school.

The question was taken on the adoption of the amendment proposed by Mr. Brosnan, to strike out the word "two," and it was agreed to.

The question was then taken on the adoption of the section, as amended, and it was adopted.

THE SPECIAL TAX—AGAIN.

Mr. DUNNE. I believe we have now passed through the whole article, and I move a reconsideration of the action of the committee by which the word "shall," and the proviso in regard to a special tax were stricken out of Section 6.

Mr. WARWICK. I will ask the gentleman if he voted in the affirmative on those questions.

Mr. BANKS. I voted in the affirmative, and I will make the motion to reconsider.

[Mr. COLLINS in the chair.]

Mr. HAWLEY. I most sincerely trust that the reconsideration will prevail, and that we shall make it mandatory on the Legislature to provide this special tax. I have read carefully the last published report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of California, the thirteenth Annual Report, and he lays particular stress upon the difficulty with which the Legislature of California has been prevailed upon to make sufficient appropriations for educational purposes. And at this very day, petitions are in circulation, and have been for some time past, throughout the whole of the State of California, for the purpose of receiving signatures praying the Legislature to impose upon the whole of the taxable property of that State, a tax of five mills on the dollar for educational purposes, instead of one-half of one mill, as we propose in this section. Now if the State of California can afford to pay a tax of five mills, I think the State of Nevada can certainly afford to pay one-half of one mill; and this Convention, taking into consideration its solemn duty towards the rising generation, should at least make it mandatory on the Legislature to impose a tax of that amount.

Time will not permit, nor is it necessary that I should recapitulate the arguments which have already been urged to show that among the first and the highest duties of the State, is the duty of educating the rising generation. Nobody will dispute that proposition, and I submit it to the good sense of the members of the Convention, with only the remark that they will reflect honor upon themselves and upon the new State, by making this provision mandatory, whereas if we shall leave it discretionary with the Legislature, which may be influenced by men in private life, or holding subordinate positions, to withhold the educational appropriations, or take only half-way measures from year to year, neglecting to do its whole duty, we shall be doing injustice to the rising generation, and a discredit to ourselves, if I may be permitted to use that remark in regard to the action of the Convention. Therefore I hope that the mandatory features of this section, as reported, will be allowed to remain unchanged.

Mr. DUNNE. The principal argument advanced in favor of striking out the mandatory language in this section was, that the Legislature would levy a tax, if necessary, without any question, and therefore it was not necessary to make the provision mandatory—that if the people of the United States, and of Nevada in particular, were firmly impressed with the necessity of any one thing in the general policy of government, it was the necessity of fostering and protecting the common school system. Now this State University is a departure from the general common school system, and it is exactly because it is such a departure that the Legislature may be unwilling to levy this tax, however necessary it may be. There is no doubt that the Legislature would readily levy a tax for the support of the common schools, but there has always been a great prejudice in the minds of many men against applying any portion of the public money to the establishment or maintenance of anything of the character of a college or university. Every possible argument has been advanced to defeat such appropriations, and devote the whole of the public funds to the common schools. Men would say, "Let us give the money to the education of the people, in their common schools, and allow those who want these new-fangled higher grades of learning to pay for such institutions themselves."

That is the reason why I think it may be sought to evade this tax, unless we make it mandatory. If it is left optional with the Legislature, then those who would evade at such a tax would have an opportunity to work upon the members, and influence them to prevent the levying of the tax by saying that the measure would be objectionable to the people, and they would gain popularity by opposing it. At the same time, if the subject were left to the people, I think it would pass without question. It is a small tax, of only five cents on each one hundred dollars, but it will go on silently growing and accumulating, without attracting much attention, until at the end of five or six years, perhaps, without any one having sensibly felt it, a fund will have accumulated sufficient to establish the University, or at least to start it upon a substantial basis. After it shall once have been set going, I have no doubt that it will be an object of so much advantage to the State that all men will feel an interest, and take pride in it, and there will be no difficulty in regard to obtaining appropriations for it. The amount of the tax proposed is very small, being only one-tenth of what is now being asked for in California, and I sincerely hope that the reconsideration will prevail, and the section be allowed to stand as originally reported.

Friday.]

COLLINS BANKS—BROSNAH—FRIZELL—NOURSE.

[July 22.]

[Mr. CHAPIN in the chair.]

Mr. COLLINS. One reason why I would urge the propriety of the reconsideration, and letting the provision stand just as it did in the Constitution adopted last year, is, that we are operating under the law of Congress, ceding or donating these ninety thousand acres for an Agricultural College, and by the terms of that act our mining department cannot receive or enjoy the advantages of that donation; but the fund derived therefrom must be set aside for certain specified objects. Now I ask where are we going to acquire the funds for our mining department? The only fund that we can have is that which will accumulate from year to year from this tax. That is what we must rely upon to supply and sustain this important department from which we hope to derive such great benefits and advantages in the future. I want the action of the Convention reconsidered, because I feel the absolute importance of the matter. We are situated here, far removed from the great seats of learning in the Atlantic States, and unless we make provision at an early day, by which the rising generation of our youths, soon to grow up and develop into manhood, can receive the advantages of education at our own hands, we shall be obliged to spend fifty times the amount that this contemplated institution would cost us, to educate our children at arms' length. It will be the greatest economy we can adopt to devise means and mature plans by which children can be educated in our midst, so that they may have an education corresponding with surrounding life; and in these departments of our State University we shall be able to provide the means by which they can acquire maintenance and good standing, and secure their own advancement.

While we are engaged in laying the foundations of a great and mighty State, do not let us be niggardly in such a matter, and by want of a comprehensive foresight on our part, in regard to the great wants of the future, force children to leave the State to acquire education. More than that, by such a course we discourage the immigration of that most valuable class which regards education as the very foundation of the State. We say to them—"Do not come here with your half-grown up boys, to dwell among, and unite your fortunes with us, because if you do, in a few years you will have to send your boys to the Atlantic States, or over the Sierras to California, to acquire an education, which we engaged here to-day in laying the foundations of a great State, are unwilling to provide for, by requiring the small tax of a half a mill on the dollar to be levied on the taxable property of the State." I trust that those gentlemen who voted for the amendment will look at the consequences, and vote for the reconsideration.

Mr. BANKS. I really hope that this amendment will be reconsidered. Many men feel that education is something that can be done without, or delayed for a time. Private interests may be in the way, or the times may be dull, and in the Legislature men will agree that for that particular year they will make the taxes light by omitting this tax, hoping, perhaps, that the subject will be attended to the next year, when the times shall be better; and thus the matter will be postponed and neglected from year to year. That is the way it has been in California, and in other States in the Union. The cause of education has been thrust aside for other interests. I hope that no gentleman will vote finally on this subject without first considering that the real issue is this: Shall we, or shall we not, have established here a permanent educational institution, which is indispensably necessary for the permanent prosperity and for the credit of our proposed State?

Mr. BROSNAN. I will merely add a word. The Legislature shall establish the institution—we have determined upon that. Now, if gentlemen are afraid to say that the Legislature shall make this provision, and divide the fund between the University and the common schools; if they think it is too much, and that the funds are ample without a special tax, then I submit that they are not acting prudently about it, unless they reconsider, because they say the Legislature will do this thing—that we need not adopt this provision, because the Legislature is abundantly able without it—and if that is the case, the Legislature may see fit to make the tax even larger than we intend. Therefore, I say that on the ground of caution they should vote to reconsider, because here is a tax provided for which cannot prove to be burdensome.

Mr. FRIZELL. I hope the vote will be reconsidered. I am willing to concede to the opinions of the array of able and good men who are in favor of the reconsideration, and to adopt the reasons which have been assigned by them. The present occupant of the chair (Mr. Chapin) will bear me witness that from the beginning I have been willing to leave anything doubtful or difficult which has arisen from time to time to the Legislature, but yielding to the arguments of good men, whom I know to have the cause of education at heart, I am willing to reconsider.

Mr. NOURSE. I am rather inclined to oppose the motion to reconsider. If the section as proposed by the committee agrees with the section as printed in the old Constitution, and I believe it does substantially, then this tax is a matter to be divided between the University and the common schools, and I am opposed to raising money by a State tax for the support of the common schools, for the reason that, as all experience shows, money to be expended economically, and to the best advantage, should be raised in such a manner as to be brought close home to all the people who are to expend it. If the people have to tax themselves for the money they expend, they will take better care of it than they will of the money which they receive from land grants, or otherwise. I have been led to believe, for this reason, that the better policy is to provide that the neighborhood which raises the money shall expend it.

WARWICK—NOURSE—HAWLEY.

Then comes this question of the college. Sir, I do not anticipate as much advantage from a State College as other gentlemen seem to. It is true that we appear to have peculiar facilities here for a mining college—more probably than in any other place in the world—and if everything here proposed was going to that, I would be strongly in favor of it. But when we come to speak about establishing a college in general, in which the ordinary branches of a collegiate education are taught, I must say, while I would be very glad to see it prosper, that I have but little faith in it. It is too easy to reach other regions, where grass grows, to be trodden under the feet of the pupils, and trees to wave over their heads, and where they do not have to drink in alkali, like the bitter waters of Marah. I do not think, therefore, that a college here would be likely to flourish much. Still, I would like to establish and encourage a mining department, and I think the establishment of such a department is essential, and would be of great advantage to the State, and no doubt it would be well patronized. If the money proposed to be raised by this tax were to go to the mining department exclusively, and not, as I understand it is, to the care of the same men who have charge of the funds for the agricultural department, for which I think this Territory is no proper place, I should be glad to vote for the tax.

Mr. WARWICK. As our time is getting very short, believing that this subject has been fully ventilated, I call for the question.

The question was taken on the motion to reconsider, and it was agreed to.

THE TAX FOR COMMON SCHOOLS.

Mr. NOURSE. I now move to amend Section 6 by striking out the words "and common schools." I understand that the common schools are otherwise abundantly supplied, getting the advantage of all the land grants, and so on. I make the motion mainly for the sake of hearing how they are provided for.

Mr. HAWLEY. Until within the past year the manner in which the school fund was obtained from taxes, has been by the payment of all the taxes assessed in each county, including the tax for school purposes, from which the Territory received its share, and when the Territory had received such share, each county drew its proportion of the school money. That law was repealed at the last session of the Legislature, and now each county levies its own tax for a school fund. Douglas County has this year a school tax of fifteen cents on each one hundred dollars. Now we propose to levy this special State tax, because we think the people may not for some time obtain any benefit or advantage from the school fund derived from the sale of lands set apart for that fund. In addition to that, we expect that each county will levy a tax sufficient for its own local institutions, and if that is not sufficient to support the common schools, a portion of this State tax of one-half of one mill on the dollar may be appropriated. We expect, moreover, that there will be a balance left which will go towards creating a sinking fund for the benefit of the University, and we do not wish to go along with that at any snail's pace. While we do not desire to impose an onerous tax, which would cause the people to cry out under the burden, yet we do propose to make such provisions as will secure to the State such an institution as is best fitted to prepare its pupils for the duties of life.

Mr. WARWICK. Is it contemplated to set apart any portion of the tax for the purposes of the University?

Mr. HAWLEY. The section provides that the tax shall be levied "for the support and maintenance of said University and common schools."

Mr. WARWICK. Exactly. But that University being in the future, and the schools in the present, would it not be better, I suggest, to set aside some portion of it specially for the purposes of the University?

Mr. HAWLEY. I do not think so. I have already expressed my views on that subject. The first duty of the State, in my opinion, is to support the common schools, and if the fund for that purpose is not sufficient, as a consequence, persons interested will have to contribute to make up the deficiency, as they do at the present time. But if, on the other hand, there shall be more than is necessary, then we leave it discretionary with the Legislature to set apart such surplus as may remain, for the purpose of an endowment of the University. That is the system which we propose to inaugurate.

Mr. WARWICK. As the gentleman from Douglas is School Superintendent of his own county, he must be aware that the wants of any school district are only circumscribed by its means. For instance, a very plain school-house, and the commonest desks, will suffice, as long as the district is so circumscribed as to be unable to afford anything better; but if its means are increased, it must have a better school-house, and more elegant desks, and a larger number and better class of teachers. I admit that these things improve the schools very much, and are desirable, but unless we provide for specially setting apart a small portion of the tax to that object, we shall have no fund at all for the University.

Mr. HAWLEY. Allow me to say that that is left discretionary with the Legislature. The committee did not propose to legislate as to what disposition shall be made of every dime.

Mr. WARWICK. Then I understand that the Legislature has discretionary power to make such use of the fund as it may see fit.

Friday.]

COLLINS WARWICK—NOURSE—DUNNE.

[July 22.]

Mr. COLLINS. I have faith to believe that the Legislature, having the fund in its care, will be disposed to use it to the best possible advantage. Our worthy chairman (Mr Chapin) has suggested that the words "mining department" be substituted for "common schools," proposing to have it read—"for the support and maintenance of said University and mining department thereof." That might, perhaps, devote this fund more directly and exclusively to the use of the mining department; but I am willing to leave the whole matter open to the Legislature, allowing that body, at any and all times, to be governed by the exigencies of the case. If the common schools are languishing, and there are no other funds to sustain them, of course they should not be permitted to suffer for the benefit of the University. They should receive the first care of the State, and next after them the University, and such branches thereof as the Legislature shall conceive to be most important for immediate development. I prefer to leave it all to the Legislature.

Mr. WARWICK. I attach great importance to the mining department clause in the provision for the establishment of this academy, college, or whatever it may be called, for the reason that I am satisfied there is more in it than gentlemen suppose, who have not examined the subject. I had occasion to investigate it to some extent while I was in California. There is a little college at a place in Europe named Freyburg, one department of which is devoted to the exclusive study of the subject of mines and mining; and that little college now has its students distributed in all parts of the world, wherever mining pursuits are carried on, and their services are in great request. And inasmuch as there is no portion of the world where there are such advantages for a school of that character as in Nevada, I imagine that it would be a paying institution and an honor to the State, and therefore I would like to see it encouraged in its infancy. I have no question but that it will be successful after it has once been fairly started.

Mr. NOURSE. I would like to modify my motion, because I do not wish to be placed in the position of an opponent of the common schools, when there is no one a more ardent friend than I am of our common school system. But I find that everything else is provided for, except this poor lone mining department, which really seems to be the most important of all, and therefore I propose to devote to that this half-mill tax, which I think will be none too large for the object. I propose to withdraw my former amendment, and, instead, to amend that portion of the section so as to read—"for the support and maintenance of the mining department of said University." It seems to me that is the only interest which is not already provided for, and it is the most important one.

The question was stated on Mr. Nourse's amendment as modified.

Mr. DUNNE. I prefer to leave the section as it is, and I differ with the mover of the amendment now pending, in the proposition which he advanced a short time ago, namely: that it was not, in his opinion, right policy to levy a State tax for the support of the common schools. In his able argument he stated as his reason, that he thought a school fund would be most effective, or that the most good would result from it, if it were to be raised from the immediate vicinity in which it is to be applied. But, sir, I think, in a country like the proposed State of Nevada, there is something due to those living in the outside portions of the country. When people go to those outermost regions, becoming the pioneers of civilization, enduring the hardships inseparable from a life in such a country, taking their families there, and endeavoring to build it up, I believe that some little consideration is due to them, and for that reason I say that a general school tax should be imposed, and the money derived therefrom divided all over the State in proportion to the number of the children in each locality. And the reason for it, in my mind, is this: that the more populous portions of the State ought to contribute somewhat towards the support of education in the outside places.

Now I represent, in part, what might be considered an outside place, and perhaps it may be said that I am open to the charge of being interested: but I explain my position in this way: That such a system works no injustice to the parents of children living in the populous counties, because they draw the same amount of money in proportion to the number of their children that is distributed to the children living in those outskirts of civilization; and the application of the rule is simply that the large capitalists of the metropolis, who have no children, and therefore derive no benefit to their families, or individually, pay their proportion for the education of the children of the whole State. What the capitalist pays goes to the general fund, and is thence distributed, and it works for the interest and advantage of the largely populated communities also, for the reason that they draw from the fund in proportion to the number of children they have, and hence they suffer no injustice. And it works no injury to the capitalist, because under the theory of our government he should be made to pay for the protection of his property, and I suppose it will not be disputed that there are no better means of affording such protection than the support of good common schools. Therefore he cannot complain—or if he does we should pay no attention to his complaints, but continue to levy a small tax upon his wealth, for the support and encouragement of public instruction.

For the reasons which I have stated, I should like to see the section left as it is, so as to permit this fund to remain in the treasury, to be divided among the educational institutions of the State, then leaving its particular disposition to the Legislature. If, upon the recommenda-

JOURNALS OF SENATE

OF THE

OF THE

STATE OF NEVADA.

CARSON CITY:
JOHN CHURCH, STATE PRINTER.

OF
H. G. BLASDEL,
GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF NEVADA.

You are required to provide for organizing and disciplining the militia of the State; the encouragement of volunteer corps, and the safe keeping of the public arms. The struggle in which the Mother Government is now so nobly contending—the vast expenditures she is making to maintain an unimpaired nationality—the possibility, remote, I trust, of disturbance within our State borders, will admonish and stimulate you to make provision for the preservation of peace and good order, such as the abundant materials at hand afford.

Our isolation and the difficulty of obtaining speedy assistance in the event of trouble, our proximity to Indian tribes not always friendly, are cogent reasons for giving this subject your deliberate consideration. Our people will organize and discipline themselves, if a convenient plan is made and the necessary arms furnished. There must be system, or there will be a lack of efficiency. Expenditures in this behalf will be cheerfully approved by the people, knowing, as they do, that the most effectual mode of avoiding a disturbance is ample means for its suppression.

The fundamental law of the State imposes upon you the duty of providing for a uniform system of common schools, and the founding of a State University. By the bounty of the Federal Government, and the authority invested in the legislative department to levy a special tax for educational purposes, there exists the nucleus for placing the acquirement of a practical education within the reach of every child of the State. The advantages accruing to the body politic, arising from an educated, well-informed thinking population, must be obvious to these into whose hands our people have confided the law-making power. Universal education is no longer an experiment of doubtful policy. Its general diffusion has been found promotive of piety, good order and a becoming regard for the constituted authorities. It induces the citizen to respect himself, and thus command the respect of others. Under that liberal and enlightened system of government which prevades all our institutions, and which guarantees to every citizen, however humble his station in life; a voice in the management and direction of State affairs, too much importance cannot be attached to a judicious inauguration of that system, which is to have such an important bearing upon the future prosperity and reputation of the State. I conjure you, therefore, to give your early and earnest attention to this subject; and by the wisdom of your enactments relating thereto, to lay broad and deep the foundation of that superstructure, on which shall rest the future moral, social and political well-being of our people. Although the General Government has made princely donations of lands which ours has appropriated to educational purposes, the experience of other States, to which the same liberality has been extended, should teach us that the children of the present generation are not likely to receive the full benefit thereof, without further Congressional legislation. The uniform construction of these grants by the Department at Washington, has been that the State cannot convey title to any specific tracts, until the public lands shall have been surveyed, and the selections made by the State, recognized by Federal authority. This will be the work of many years, with such meager appropriations as will probably be made for that object. It is not only highly important for the purposes for which we have dedicated these lands, but for the general prosperity of the State, that our citizens should early become the owners of the soil which they cultivate, and on which they expend large sums in the erection of houses, mills, places of business and manufactories. Nothing tends more to the prosperity and

A REGULATION relating to education; prescribing the requirements and procedures for applying to establish and establishing an education savings account; establishing the Committee to Review Payments to determine whether certain expenditures of money from an education savings account are authorized; requiring certain examinations administered to a child for whom an education savings account has been established to be selected from a list prescribed by the Department of Education; prescribing the procedure by which an agreement to establish an education savings account may be terminated; requiring the annual audit of certain education savings accounts; establishing the requirements to become a participating entity; prescribing the procedure by which the State Treasurer may terminate the participation of an entity under certain circumstances; requiring certain participating entities to post a bond or provide certain documentation to the State Treasurer; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law allows the parents of a child who is required by law to attend public school and who has been enrolled in a public school for not less than 100 consecutive school days without interruption to establish an education savings account for the child by entering into an agreement with the State Treasurer. (Section 7 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1826) If a parent enters into such an agreement, a grant of money on behalf of the child must be deposited into the education savings account. (Section 8 of Senate Bill No.

302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1827) The parent may use money in the education savings account to pay certain expenses to enable the child to receive instruction from a participating entity, including tuition at a private school, a program of distance education or a college or university. (Section 9 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at p. 1828) Section 8 of this regulation clarifies the expenses that are considered tuition. If an expense is considered tuition or is another expense authorized in statute, a parent may use money from an education savings account to pay the expense. (Section 9 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at p. 1828)

Existing law requires the State Treasurer to freeze an education savings account during any break in the school year. (Section 7 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1826) Section 7 of this regulation provides that any period of 15 or more consecutive days that are not school days will be considered a “break in the school year.”

Section 9 of this regulation requires a parent who wishes to establish an education savings account on behalf of his or her child to submit an application to the State Treasurer during the open enrollment period prescribed by the State Treasurer. Section 9 provides that the State Treasurer will approve an application made on behalf of any eligible child who has been enrolled in a public school and in one or more qualifying courses at a public school for the 100 school days immediately preceding the date on which the application is received; and (2) unless the State Treasurer authorizes a waiver for extraordinary circumstances, has not been absent from the public school for more than 15 consecutive school days during that period of 100 school days. Section 9 defines the term “qualifying course” to mean any course offered by a public school to pupils who are enrolled in the public school for credit toward promotion to the next grade or graduation.

Section 10 of this regulation allows a parent whose application has been approved to enter into an agreement with the State Treasurer and establish an education savings account. Section 10 also prescribes the dates on which the State Treasurer will deposit grants of money into education savings accounts. Additionally, section 10 states that the State Treasurer will provide a memorandum to each parent who establishes an education savings account that sets forth the procedures to be followed by a parent when making payments from the education savings account. Section 10 further provides that the State Treasurer will annually provide to the Department a list of children for whom an Education Savings Account has been established. Section 11 of this regulation establishes the Committee to Review Payments and authorizes the State Treasurer to submit a request to the Committee for a determination on whether an expenditure of money from an education savings account is authorized.

Existing law requires a participating entity to ensure that each child on whose behalf a grant of money has been deposited into an education savings account takes certain examinations. (Section 12 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1830) Section 10 requires such examinations to be included on a list of examinations prescribed by the Department of Education.

Existing law provides for the early termination of an agreement to establish an education savings account before the account is scheduled to expire or be renewed. If an agreement is terminated early, existing law prohibits the child from receiving instruction from a public school, other than instruction that is authorized under the agreement, until the end of the period for which the last deposit was made into the education savings account. (Section 7 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1826) Section 12 of this regulation authorizes a parent to terminate an agreement by providing written notice to the State Treasurer. If a parent provides such notice by not later than the last business day of the calendar quarter for which the most recent deposit was made into the education savings account, section 12 authorizes the child to enroll in a public school on the first school day of the next calendar quarter. Section 13 of this regulation provides that, if the State Treasurer reasonably believes that a child for whom an education savings account has been established no longer resides in this State, the State Treasurer will freeze the account and ask the parent of the child for proof that the child resides in this State. If a parent fails to provide such proof, section 13 provides that the State Treasurer will dissolve the account.

Existing law requires an education savings account to be audited randomly each year by a certified or licensed public accountant. If the State Treasurer determines that there has been a violation of law, regulation or the agreement pursuant to which the account was established or a substantial misuse of funds, the State Treasurer is authorized to freeze or dissolve the account. (Section 10 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1829) Section 14 of this regulation provides for the annual random audit of 10 percent of the education savings accounts in existence on January 1 of that calendar year. If 5 percent or more of the audits reveal a violation of law, regulation or the agreement or a substantial misuse of funds, section 14 requires all education savings accounts to be audited.

Section 15 of this regulation provides that: (1) the State Treasurer will quarterly provide to the Department of Education notice of all agreements that have been terminated; and (2) any money remaining in an education savings account when an agreement is terminated or expires reverts to the State General Fund and must be transferred to the Fund within 10 days after the termination or expiration.

Existing law provides that an education savings account may only be maintained at a financial management firm qualified by the State Treasurer. (Section 7 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1826) Section 16 of this regulation provides that the State Treasurer will enter into a contract with one or more financial management firms that meet certain qualifications to manage education savings accounts.

Existing law provides that a private school, a college or university, a program of distance education, a tutor or an accredited tutoring facility or the parent of a child can become eligible to receive money from an education savings account by applying to the State Treasurer. (Section 11 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1829) Section 17 of this regulation requires an application submitted by any entity other than the parent of a child to include proof that the entity is qualified to receive such money.

Existing law authorizes the State Treasurer to refuse to allow a participating entity that receives money from an education savings account to continue receiving such money if the entity has failed to provide any educational services required by law to the child for whom the entity receives such money. (Section 11 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1829) Section 17 provides that, if the State Treasurer determines that a participating entity may have failed to provide such educational services, the State Treasurer will conduct an investigation. If the investigation reveals that the participating entity has failed to provide such services, section 17 provides that the State Treasurer may, after providing notice and the opportunity for a hearing, terminate the entity's participation in the program.

Existing law authorizes the State Treasurer to require a participating entity that is reasonably expected to receive more than $50,000 in payments from education savings accounts during any school year to: (1) post a surety bond in an amount equal to the amount the entity receives from education savings accounts; or (2) provide evidence that the entity has unencumbered assets sufficient to pay an amount equal to the amount that it receives from education savings accounts. (Section 11 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, p. 1829) Section 18 of this regulation provides that such a reasonable expectation will exist and a participating entity will be required to comply with those requirements if more than 10 agreements authorize the entity to receive money from an education savings account.

Section 1. Chapter 385 of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections 2 to 18, inclusive, of this regulation.

(a) Award grants of money made available pursuant to section 8 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at page 1827, on behalf of children who qualify for such grants so that the parents of such children have choices concerning the education of the children; and

(b) Make the grants of money described in paragraph (a) available to be awarded on behalf of the largest number of children allowable under sections 2 to 15, inclusive, of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at pages 1826-31.

2. For the accomplishment of these purposes, the provisions of sections 2 to 18, inclusive, of this regulation must be broadly and liberally construed.

Sec. 7. For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of section 7 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at page 1826, the State Treasurer will construe the term “break in the school year” to mean 15 or more consecutive days that are not school days.

Sec. 8. For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of sections 2 to 15, inclusive, of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at pages 1826-31, the State Treasurer will construe the term “tuition” to include only the cost of enrolling a child in a school or program of distance education that is a participating entity, except that the term does not include:

1. An application fee, entrance fee, parking fee, technology fee, athletic fee, studio fee, laboratory fee or any fee or surcharge imposed in connection with a specific course, whether or not the fee or surcharge is imposed on all children enrolled in the participating entity or the course; or

Sec. 9. 1. A parent who wishes to establish an education savings account on behalf of his or her child must submit an application to the State Treasurer on a form made available by the State Treasurer during the open enrollment period established pursuant to subsection 2.

2. At least one time each year, the State Treasurer will establish an open enrollment period during which the State Treasurer will accept applications to establish an education savings account. The State Treasurer will announce the dates of the open enrollment period during the fourth quarter of the calendar year immediately preceding the school year for which the open enrollment period applies.

3. The State Treasurer will review each application submitted pursuant to subsection 1 and, not later than 30 days after the date on which the application is received, notify the applicant by certified mail or electronic communication whether the application has been approved or denied. 6. An applicant may apply in writing to the State Treasurer for a waiver of the provisions of subsection 5. Upon a showing that an absence of more than 15 consecutive school days was caused by extraordinary circumstances, which may include, without limitation, the death of a family member of the child or a serious medical condition, the State Treasurer may grant the waiver.

7. As used in this section, “qualifying course” means a course that is offered to pupils who are enrolled in the public school for which the pupils may receive credit toward promotion to the next grade or graduation from high school, including, without limitation, a course that is offered as an elective.

Sec. 13. If the State Treasurer reasonably believes that a child on behalf of whom an education savings account has been established no longer resides in this State, the State Treasurer will freeze the education savings account and send a written notice by certified mail to the parent of the child requesting the parent to submit proof that the child resides in this State. If the parent:

1. Provides satisfactory proof by not later than 15 business days after the date on which the notice is received, the State Treasurer will remove the freeze on the education savings account.

2. Fails to provide satisfactory proof by not later than 15 days after the date of the notice, the State Treasurer will terminate the agreement pursuant to which the education savings account was established and dissolve the education savings account.

Sec. 14. 1. Each calendar year, the State Treasurer will randomly select not fewer than 10 percent of the education savings accounts in existence on January 1 of that year to be audited.

2. The State Treasurer will cause an audit to be conducted of each education savings account then in existence if 5 percent or more of the audits conducted pursuant to subsection 1 indicate any of the following irregularities:

(a) Failure to comply with an agreement pursuant to which an education savings account was established, sections 2 to 15, inclusive, of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at pages 1826-31, or sections 2 to 18, inclusive, of this regulation; or

(b) A substantial misuse of money in an education savings account.

3. If the State Treasurer determines, based on an audit conducted pursuant to subsection 1 or 2, or for any other reason, that an irregularity described in subsection 2 has occurred, the State Treasurer will:

- (a) Freeze the education savings account; and*
- (b) Send to the parent of the child on behalf of whom the education savings account was established by certified mail written notice of the reason that the account is frozen and the manner in which to petition for reconsideration as set forth in subsections 4 and 5.*

4. A parent who receives notice that the State Treasurer has placed a freeze on an education savings account pursuant to subsection 3 may submit a petition for reconsideration by providing to the State Treasurer, not later than 5 business days after receiving the notice, a written explanation of the reasons that the parent believes the determination of the State Treasurer was incorrect. If the State Treasurer does not receive such a petition within that time, the State Treasurer will dissolve the education savings account and terminate the agreement pursuant to which the account was established.

5. Upon receipt of a petition pursuant to subsection 4, the State Treasurer will review the written explanation included in the petition and determine whether an irregularity described in subsection 2 occurred. Not later than 5 business days after receiving the petition, the State Treasurer will notify the parent of the determination. If the State Treasurer determines that:

- (a) An irregularity occurred, the State Treasurer will dissolve the education savings account and terminate the agreement pursuant to which the education savings account was established.*
- (b) No irregularity occurred, the State Treasurer will remove the freeze on the education savings account.*

Sec. 15. 1. Each calendar quarter, the State Treasurer will provide to the Department a list of each child for whom an agreement pursuant to which an education savings account was established has been terminated for any reason.

2. If any money remains in an education savings account after the agreement pursuant to which the account was established is terminated or expires, the money in the account reverts and must be transferred to the State General Fund by the State Treasurer by not later than 10 days after the date of the termination or expiration.

Sec. 16. 1. The State Treasurer will enter into a contract to manage education savings accounts with one or more financial management firms. Any such firm must:

(a) Be authorized to accept deposits under the laws of this State or the United States; and
(b) Insure the accounts that it maintains with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund or a private insurer approved pursuant to NRS 678.755.

2. A contract entered into pursuant to subsection 1 must include a provision allowing the State Treasurer to terminate the contract if:

(a) The financial management firm fails to comply with applicable law or the provisions of the contract; or

(b) The State Treasurer determines that the financial management firm is not performing adequately.

3. A financial management firm with whom the State Treasurer enters into a contract pursuant to subsection 1 shall maintain and manage education savings accounts in compliance with generally accepted accounting principles.

Sec. 17. 1. To become a participating entity, an entity must submit an application to the State Treasurer on a form made available by the State Treasurer.

2. Each applicant, other than the parent of a child, must submit proof that the applicant is eligible to become a participating entity pursuant to section 11 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at page 1829. If an applicant is a tutor or tutoring facility, such proof must include, without limitation, proof that the applicant is accredited by a state, regional or national accrediting agency.

3. If the State Treasurer:

(a) Approves an application submitted pursuant to this section, the State Treasurer will provide notice to the applicant through written or electronic communication to the person designated on the application.

(b) Does not approve an application submitted pursuant to this section, the State Treasurer will provide notice to the applicant by certified mail to the person designated on the application.

4. If the State Treasurer determines, based on the results of the examinations administered pursuant to section 12 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at page 1830, or for any other reason, that a participating entity that accepts payments from the educational savings account of a child may have failed to provide an educational service required by law to the child, the State Treasurer will conduct an investigation. If, after conducting an investigation, the State Treasurer determines that the participating entity has failed to provide an educational service required by law to the child, the State Treasurer may, after providing notice and the opportunity for a hearing, refuse to allow the entity to continue as a participating entity.

Sec. 18. 1. If the State Treasurer reasonably expects that a participating entity will receive, from payments made from education savings accounts, an amount that exceeds $50,000 for a school year, the State Treasurer will:

(a) Determine the amount reasonably expected to be paid to such a participating entity from education savings accounts during the school year; and

(b) Provide notice to the participating entity of the amount determined pursuant to paragraph (a) and the requirements set forth in subsection 2.

2. A participating entity that receives a notice pursuant to subsection 1 shall, not more than 10 business days after the next deposit of money into education savings accounts pursuant to section 10 of this regulation:

(a) Post a surety bond in an amount equal to the amount determined by the State Treasurer pursuant to subsection 1; or

(b) Provide to the State Treasurer documentation of a financial audit demonstrating that the participating entity has unencumbered assets sufficient to pay the State Treasurer an amount equal to the amount determined by the State Treasurer pursuant to subsection 1.

3. For the purposes of this section and section 11 of Senate Bill No. 302, chapter 332, Statutes of Nevada 2015, at page 1829, a participating entity will be deemed by the State Treasurer to be reasonably expected to receive more than $50,000 in a school year from education savings accounts if, at the beginning of the school year, 10 or more agreements authorize the participating entity to receive money from an education savings account.

Sec. 19. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 10 of this regulation, the State Treasurer will begin making deposits of money into education savings accounts pursuant to subsection 2 of section 10 of this regulation on or before May 1, 2016.

1 That's what is going to be what's best for my family. The bill
2 is trying to make it easier for families and that—if they didn't
3 count the kindergarteners, that would make it harder for my 4 family. So, I would ask that you consider counting kindergarten,
5 thank you.

6 SENATOR HAMMOND: This is Senator Hammond. If I could 7 interject just for a second, Treasurer Schwartz. I just want to 8 say that that—the intent of the bill, actually from the very 9 beginning was to allow for kindergarten—people coming into 10 kindergarten to choose. So, these are students who are not yet 11 on the rolls. I believe Section 7 said something to effect of,
12 if you look at the bill it says, anything that's required—
13 kindergarten of course is not required to get into—you know, to 14 start your schooling. So, it's always been my intent to make 15 sure that coming into school that parents be able to make that 16 choice so that the student can start at the school they would 17 like to be at, or the educational system they would like to have 18 delivered to them or anything like that. They could start from 19 fresh. That's my perspective. That's sort of what we've always 20 talked about. That—that being said, I'll go ahead and turn it

Treasurer's Office Proposes Quarterly Enrollment Periods for Education Savings Accounts (SB302)

Carson City, NV – State Treasurer Dan Schwartz and the STO's Implementation team have proposed the following guidelines for Nevada's Education Savings Accounts (ESA) program's open enrollment and account funding dates.

"Understanding that the final regulations will take several months to enact, Nevada parents are entitled to know when they will be able to apply for an ESA and when those funds would be first available. We are committed to creating an enrollment and funding process that is easy to understand and allows parents the flexibility they need to decide the best time for their child to enroll," said Schwartz. "My office is working diligently to ensure that parents have the tools they need to make informed decisions about their child's educational opportunities while protecting against fraud and abuse," concluded Schwartz.

Nevada's ESA program will have a quarterly open enrollment period, which allows parents to make the decision at any time during the year on the best educational opportunity for their child. A student must meet all eligibility requirements prior to applying for an ESA. The chart below outlines when parents can enroll their child in Nevada's ESA program and the corresponding funding date for those accounts:

Open Enrollment Periods for 2016

January 4 – February 29, 2016
April 1 – May 31, 2016
July 1 – August 31, 2016

Estimated Account Funding Dates

First week of July 2016

The State Treasurer will be holding a regulations workshop on July 17 at 9:00am in both Las Vegas and Carson City and public hearings in August/September 2015.

Parents and school administrators who continue to have questions pertaining to the implementation of Nevada's Education Savings account program should contact the STO office at 702-486-5101 or NevadaSchoolChoice@NevadaTreasurer.gov.

1 GRANT HEWITT: So, Senator Hammond—this is Grant
2 Hewitt for the record. Senator Hammond spoke to this at the last
3 hearing that the reason behind the 100 days is that for a student
4 to have a qualifying allotment in the distributive school
5 account, which is what funds ESAs, it's also what trickles down
6 to the school district from the State level, you must've been 7 included in the school count in the previous year or that year to 8 have an allotment created. So, if you weren't there for the 100
9 days, then there's no actual budget allotment for your child,
10 thus there would be no ESA funding available. If we let everybody
11 in on the 100 days, as Senator Hammond indicated, you'd have 12 approximately a $200M whole in the budget.

13 DAN SCHWARTZ: Those are just the reasons that are 14 given. So, as I say, we're trying not to answer questions, but 15 where there's an easy answer, we'll certainly try.

16 CHRISTOPHER BEAUMONT: Is that—thank you.

17 GRANT HEWITT: Thanks. And, please, everybody know—18 those who have talked to me, you can email

1 2015-16 school year, given that a family did the early
2 application prior to enrolling their son or daughter into private 3 school?

4 GRANT HEWITT: Grant Hewitt for the record. The 5 issue revolves around that the approximately $5,000 ESA payment,
6 according to SB 302 is to be made in four equal payments over the 7 course of the year. We are making those payments on calendar
8 years. And, our office feels strongly that what we can make sure 9 to deliver on for parents in Nevada is that we will be able to 10 make a first funding payment in April for April, May and June.
11 We don't feel that it's appropriate at this time to commit to a
12 January payment date, because the technology and the processes
13 just might not be in place for that. But, we do know that we can 14 make an April payment date.

15 DAN SCHWARTZ: Jim, the short answer to your question
16 is, payments are mandated quarterly. So, you'll get the full 17 amount, but paid quarterly. Answer your question?

18 JIM FIRZLAFF: Yeah. So, if I understand you
19 correctly then, if there's only one payment for the 15-16 school
20 year, for a family that applied early and followed all the rules,
21 then that would just automatically balloon to the total $5,000
22 for the year?

23 DAN SCHWARTZ: Yeah, it's—

24 JIM FIRZLAFF: The $5,000 is—

QUESTION NO. 1

Amendment to the Nevada Constitution

CONDENSATION (Ballot Question)

Shall the Nevada Constitution be amended to require the Nevada Legislature to fund the operation of the public schools for kindergarten through grade 12 before funding any other part of the state budget for the next biennium?

Yes.....☐

No.....☐

EXPLANATION (Ballot Question)

The proposed amendment, if passed, would create five new sections to Section 6 of Article 11 of the Nevada Constitution. The amendment would provide that during a regular session of the Legislature, before any appropriation is enacted to fund a portion of the state budget, the Legislature must appropriate sufficient funds for the operation of Nevada's public schools for kindergarten through grade 12 for the next biennium, and that any appropriation in violation of this requirement is void. The appropriation requirement also applies to certain special sessions of the Legislature.

The following arguments for and against and rebuttals for Question No. 1 were prepared by a committee as required by Nevada Revised Statutes (NRS) 293.252.

ARGUMENT IN SUPPORT OF QUESTION NO. 1

Question One seeks a constitutional amendment changing the process by which public school education is funded at the State Legislature.

Education first ensures our state's public school system will be funded, before any other program for the next fiscal biennium, during each legislative session, by an appropriation the Legislature deems to be sufficient to fund the operation of our public schools for the student population reasonably estimated for that biennium.

Education First preserves the Legislature's ability to first fund the cost of the legislative session or an emergency measure demanding immediate action. Education First does not determine the level or source of funding public school education receives, so there is no fiscal impact to the state.

Education First will substantially enhance Nevada's credibility as a stable environment for students and teachers. As the fastest growing state in the nation, that is critical if Nevada is to keep pace with its growing student population.

For example, for the 2002-03 school year, Nevada hired over 2300 new teachers. Most new teachers are hired from out-of-state because Nevada's University and Community College System cannot meet our state's demand for teachers. Teachers make a serious commitment when they choose to move and teach here. Education First will help ensure Nevada is equally committed.

The budget deadlock we experienced during the 2003 legislative sessions must never be repeated. The consequences for our schools, our teachers and our children were significant. Schools opened late, new teachers could not be hired, and special programs were jeopardized as those teachers were designated for reassignment to the general classroom. School administrators could not adequately plan for the coming school year, a process that typically begins each January. Education First prevents that from ever happening again.

As long as public school education is allowed to be the last major budget bill considered, special sessions and court intervention could easily become the norm in the legislative process. When education is first, that won't happen, as it did in 2003. Education First will ensure that the funding of education in Nevada will be given the status intended by the framers of our Constitution and will help prevent another Supreme Court ruling that negates the Gibbons tax restraint portion of our Constitution.

Take the politics out of funding Nevada's public schools. A YES vote on Question One will put education and Nevada's children first in line at budget time.

The above argument was submitted by the Ballot Question Committee composed of citizens in favor of this question as provided for in NRS 293.252

REBUTTAL TO ARGUMENT IN SUPPORT OF QUESTION NO. 1

The Education Funding Crisis of the 2003 Legislative session is the first in 73 regular sessions of the Nevada legislature. It was generated for political reasons to push a huge tax increase. Voters have an opportunity in this election to punish those guilty without changing the constitution. One failure in 73 sessions is insufficient reason to change the constitution.

A "NO" vote on Question 1 will force legislators to do the job we elect them to do. A "YES" vote will NOT correct the grave disregard for the Nevada Constitution by the Nevada Supreme Court during 2003. The Court showed blatant disregard for the people's will of the original Gibbons' petition and there is no reason to believe this will improve their attention to their oath of office. Make representative government work by voting "NO" on Question 1.

The above argument was submitted by the Ballot Question Committee composed of citizens opposed to this question as provided for in NRS 293.252

ARGUMENT AGAINST QUESTION NO. 1

The last legislative session showed that education funding can become a political football and few would agree that scenario should ever be repeated; however, a single event should not be a reason to compromise the public health and safety of Nevadans by detrimentally removing the Legislature's and our Governor's ability to determine our state's priorities.

1. The education budget is such a large portion of the budget that it cannot be determined until after the final meeting of the Economic Forum. The Economic Forum is a panel of experts appointed by Nevada elected officials to formulate detailed projections regarding our state's revenue. The Economic Forum's projections would not be done until just prior to April 30th.

2. In the normal 120 day legislative process, the small budgets with little or no changes are processed starting weeks before the end of the legislative session. This allows the legislative workload to remain reasonable and matters to be handled in a logical manner. Holding all those budgets until the education budget can be decided may actually impede the process of closing budgets and make special sessions more likely, adding unnecessarily to taxpayer expense. Thus, this measure is likely to cause an adverse fiscal impact.
3. Under the current system the smaller budgets come through early providing lawmakers that do not sit on the Assembly Ways and Means or Senate Finance Committees with the time to review these budgets and ask questions. If those budgets are held until the education budget is decided, then the review by other legislators will be lost in the rush to close the session. Public health, safety and the protection of our environment will necessarily be compromised because of the limited time to review non-education budget matters that are equally important to our state's welfare.
4. Further it might be much easier for a lawmaker on the money committees to add “pork” to some budgets without the check and balance time and review process to stop potential wasteful spending.
5. While we agree that the entire budgeting and funding process in Nevada needs to be reviewed to encourage fiscal responsibility and accountability by the legislators and all with budgets within the executive branch, this measure seems to complicate the matter rather than actually improve and simplify the process.

We urge voters not to make the budget process more difficult by passing this measure.

The above argument was submitted by the Ballot Question Committee composed of citizens opposed to this question as provided for in NRS 293.252

REBUTTAL TO ARGUMENT IN OPPOSITION TO QUESTION NO. 1

1. Public education is one of five major budget bills. According to the Legislative Counsel Bureau, no budget can be closed prior to release of the Economic Forum’s final report. This does not change. When budget bills are enrolled, education will be first.
2. The way the state budget is crafted does not change. The legislative workload is unaffected. The process becomes more logical when such a large component is dealt with first. The Legislature is responsible for managing its workload and adhering to a 120-day session. The status quo is more likely to result in special sessions.
3. Lawmakers not on money committees still participate. Issues are engaged in the same manner as now. Any impact should the Legislature not do its job as required by the state Constitution is its responsibility. Public health, safety, welfare and the environment are not compromised by Education First.

4. Adding pork will always be tempting. Education First does not make it easier. If checks and balances aren't done, regardless of where in the process, legislators would be derelict in their duties.
5. When public education is no longer the budget's sacrificial lamb, the process is brought into check, improving accountability and simplicity.

The above argument was submitted by the Ballot Question Committee composed of citizens in favor of this question as provided for in NRS 293.252

Education First Initiative Petition - State of Nevada

EXPLANATION – Matter in bolded italics is new; matter between brackets [omitted material] is material to be omitted.

AN ACT relating to the funding of public education; amending the Constitution of the State of Nevada to require the Legislature to fund the operation of the public schools for kindergarten through grade 12 before any other part of the state budget for the next biennium is funded; providing that any appropriation enacted in violation of that requirement is void; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEVADA DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Section 6 of Article 11 of the Constitution of the State of Nevada is hereby amended to read as follows:

1. In addition to other means provided for the support and maintenance of said university and common schools, the legislature shall provide for their support and maintenance by direct legislative appropriation from the general fund, upon the presentation of budgets in the manner required by law.

2. During a regular session of the Legislature, before any other appropriation is enacted to fund a portion of the state budget for the next ensuing biennium, the Legislature shall enact one or more appropriations to provide the money the Legislature deems to be sufficient, when combined with the local money reasonably available for this purpose, to fund the operation of the public schools in the State for kindergarten through grade 12 for the next ensuing biennium for the population reasonably estimated for that biennium.

3. During a special session of the Legislature that is held between the end of a regular session in which the Legislature has not enacted the appropriation or appropriations required by subsection 2 to fund education for the next ensuing biennium and the first day of that next ensuing biennium, before any other appropriation is enacted other than appropriations required to pay the cost of that special session, the Legislature shall enact one or more appropriations to provide the money the Legislature deems to be sufficient, when combined with the local money reasonably available for this purpose, to fund the operation of the public schools in the State for kindergarten through grade 12 for the next ensuing biennium for the population reasonably estimated for that biennium.

4. During a special session of the Legislature that is held in a biennium for which the Legislature has not enacted the appropriation or appropriations required by subsection 2 to fund education for the biennium in which the special session is being held, before any other appropriation is enacted other than appropriations required to pay the cost of that special session, the Legislature shall enact one or more appropriations to provide the money the Legislature deems to be sufficient, when combined with the local money reasonably available for this purpose, to fund the operation of the public schools in the State for kindergarten through grade 12 for the population reasonably estimated for the biennium in which the special session is held.

5. Any appropriation of money enacted in violation of subsection 2, 3 or 4 is void.

6. As used in this section, "biennium" means a period of two fiscal years beginning on July 1 of an odd-numbered year and ending on June 30 of the next ensuing odd-numbered year.

- 1 Students are counted as 1.0 in multiple programs. Therefore, the total of programmatic enrollments is greater than "Total District" enrollment. Kindergarten and pre-school students are counted as 0.6 for enrollment because they attend school for only part of the day.
- 2 "Other Programs" does not include a per pupil expenditure because these programs benefit various student populations with a variety of needs, and a per pupil calculation would not be comparable.
- 3 The per pupil programmatic expenditure amounts in the "Incremental $ Per Pupil" column represent only the incremental program expenditures. The "Total $ Per Pupil" column represents the total per pupil expenditures for the designated program (the General Education base per pupil amount in bold plus the incremental per pupil amount for each program).

1 Before the Court is Plaintiffs' Motion for a Preliminary Injunction, enjoining the 2 implementation of Nevada's recently passed voucher law, Senate Bill 302 ("SB 302"). The 3 motion is opposed by Defendant Dan Schwartz, in his official capacity as Treasurer for the State
4 of Nevada.

5 Plaintiffs are parents whose children attend Nevada's public schools. They filed the 6 original Complaint in this matter on September 9, 2015, alleging that Nevada's recently passed
7 voucher law, Senate Bill 302 ("SB 302"), violates Article XI of the Nevada Constitution ("the 8 Education Article") by diverting funds from public schools to pay for private school tuition and 9 other expenses.

10 Having examined the submissions of both Plaintiffs and Defendant and heard oral
11 argument thereon, this Court is of the opinion that a preliminary injunction should issue, enjoining
12 Defendant Schwartz from implementing SB 302.

13 BACKGROUND

14 In the last legislative session, the Nevada Legislature passed SB 302. This law authorizes
15 the State Treasurer to divert funds from public schools to private accounts, called Education
16 Saving Accounts ("ESAs"), to pay for a wide array non-public education expenses, including 17 private school tuition, tutoring, home-based education curricula, and transportation.

18 Any child who enrolls in a public school for 100 consecutive days may establish an ESA.
19 SB 302 § 7. The 100-day requirement need be met only once in the child's academic career in 20 order for that child to obtain funding every year until he or she matriculates, drops out, or leaves 21 the state.

22 When an ESA is established, SB 302 requires that the State Treasurer deposit into the ESA
23 an amount equal to 90 percent of the statewide average basic support guarantee per pupil, or 24 $5,139 per pupil for the 2015-16 school year. For children with disabilities and children in 25 households with an income of less than 185 percent of the Federal poverty level, the State
26 Treasurer must transfer 100 percent of the statewide average basic support guarantee per pupil, or 27 $5,710 per pupil for 2015-16. SB 302 § 8(2).

1 The total amount of the basic support guarantee transferred to ESAs is deducted from the
2 funding appropriated by the Legislature for the operation of the school district in which the eligible
3 children reside. Specifically, the statute directs the State Treasurer to deduct “all the funds
4 deposited in education savings accounts established on behalf of children who reside in the
5 county” from the school district’s “apportionment” of the legislatively appropriated funding
6 “computed on a yearly basis.” SB 302 § 16.1; see also SB 302, Legislative Counsel’s Digest (“the
7 amount of the [ESA] must be deducted from the total apportionment to the resident school district
8 of the child on whose behalf the grant is made.”). As such, each ESA established represents a loss
9 to a public school district of the basic support guarantee amount—either $5,139 or $5,710 per year.

STANDARD

11 A preliminary injunction issues “upon a showing that the party seeking it enjoys a 12 reasonable probability of success on the merits and that the defendant's conduct, if allowed to 13 continue, will result in irreparable harm for which compensatory damage is an inadequate 14 remedy.” Dixon v. Thatcher, 103 Nev. 414, 415, 742 P.2d 1029, 1029 (1987) (citing Number One 15 Rent-A-Car v. Ramada Inns, 94 Nev. 779, 780 (1978)).

16 Plaintiffs have demonstrated a reasonable probability of success on the merits and have 17 shown that they will suffer irreparable harm if the statute is not enjoined.

REASONABLE PROBABILITY OF SUCCESS ON THE MERITS

19 Plaintiffs argue that SB 302 violates Article XI of the Nevada Constitution in three distinct 20 ways. The Court finds that the Plaintiffs have a reasonable probability of succeeding on the merits
21 of all three claims.

22 First, Plaintiffs argue that SB 302 violates Article XI, sections 3 and 6 of the Nevada
23 Constitution because those provisions prohibit the transfer of funds appropriated for the operation
24 of the public schools to any other use. The Education Article of the Nevada Constitution requires
25 the Legislature to “provide for the[] support and maintenance” of the common or public schools
26 “by direct legislative appropriation from the general fund.” NEV. CONST. art. XI § 6.1. The 27 appropriation for the public schools must occur “before any other appropriation is enacted to fund
28 a portion of the state budget for the next ensuing biennium.” Nev. Const. art XI, § 6.2. The direct

1 legislative appropriation can only be used “to fund the operation of the public schools in the State
2 for kindergarten through grade 12 for the next ensuing biennium for the population reasonably
3 estimated for that biennium.” NEV. CONST. art. XI, § 6.2. “Any appropriation of money enacted in
4 violation of subsection 2... is void.” Nev. Const. art. XI, § 6.5. Likewise, Article XI, section 3,
5 specifies additional sources of funding for the public schools and also restricts the use of those
6 funds. NEV. CONST. art. XI, § 3 (specifying funds “pledged for educational purposes” and stating 7 that “the money therefrom must not be transferred to other funds for other uses”).

8 From the plain language of Article XI, it is clear that funds appropriated to public
9 education may not be used for any other purpose. The Supreme Court of Nevada so held over a 10 century ago in State v. Westerfield, 23 Nev. 468 (1897). As the Supreme Court explained in 11 Westerfield, funds appropriated for the public schools under Article XI can only be used for “the 12 support” of the public schools and no portion of those funds can be used to pay a non-public 13 school employee “without disregarding the mandates of the constitution.” Id. at 121. Payments of 14 such funds for any other purpose are “unconstitutional, null and void” Id.; see also State ex rel.
15 Wright v. Dovey, 19 Nev. 396, 12 P. 910, 912 (1887) (holding that “neither the framers of the 16 constitution nor the legislature intended to allow public-school moneys to any county for persons 17 not entitled to attend the public schools therein . . .”).

18 SB 302 directs the State Treasurer to transfer into private ESAs the basic support
19 guarantee per-pupil funding appropriated by the Legislature for the operation of the school district 20 in which the ESA-eligible child resides. SB 302 § 16.1 (school districts are entitled to their 21 apportioned funds “minus . . . all the funds deposited in education savings accounts established on 22 behalf of children who reside in the county”). Because SB 302 explicitly authorizes the use of 23 funds appropriated for the public schools for non-public educational purposes, I find that there is 24 substantial likelihood that Plaintiffs will prevail on the merits of their argument that SB 302
25 violates Article XI, sections 3 and 6 of the Nevada Constitution.

26 Second, Plaintiffs argue that because SB 302 removes from the public school
27 system a portion of the amount of funds the Legislature has “deemed sufficient” to maintain and

1 operate the public schools, the law violates section 6.2 of the Education Article of the Nevada
2 Constitution.

3 Article XI, section 6.2, of the Nevada Constitution directs the Legislature to provide 4 the appropriations it “deems to be sufficient,” to fund the operation of Nevada’s public schools for 5 kindergarten through grade 12 for the next ensuing biennium. Article XI, section 6.5 provides that 6 “any appropriation of money enacted in violation of [section 6.2]... is void.” This provision was 7 an amendment to the constitution by a ballot initiative in 2006. The stated purpose of this 8 amendment was “to ensure funding of education be given the status intended” by the constitutions’
9 framers and to “substantially enhance[] Nevada’s credibility as a stable environment for students
10 and teachers.”

11 SB 302, by deducting ESAs from funds appropriated for public schools, reduces the 12 level of funding for the operation of the public schools below that which the Legislature has 13 deemed sufficient in its biennium appropriations for the maintenance and support of Nevada’s
14 public schools. On this basis, I find that there is reasonable probability that Plaintiffs will prevail
15 on the merits of their argument that SB 302 violates Art. XI, section 6.2 and to the extent public 16 school funds are transferred to ESAs, such appropriations are void under Art. XI, section 6.5.

17 Third, Article XI, section 2, of the Nevada Constitution mandates that the 18 Legislature establish a “uniform system of common,” or public, schools. Plaintiffs allege that SB
19 302 creates a non-uniform system of schools and therefore violates Article XI, section 2. Further,
20 they allege that because SB 302 uses public funds to create a system of education other than the 21 type mandated by the Constitution, it is unconstitutional.

22 Article XI, section 2 requires that the Legislature establish and maintain a “uniform 23 system of common schools.” In fulfillment of this mandate, the Legislature has enacted an 24 extensive framework of requirements to ensure the public schools are open to all children. As 25 Plaintiffs have shown, SB 302 allows public school funds to pay for private schools and other 26 entities that are not subject to the requirements applied to public schools. The private schools, on-
27 line programs and parents receiving public school funds under SB 302 do not have to use the State-
28 adopted curriculum taught in public schools. Likewise, private schools and entities that accept

EXHIBIT 13

1 ESA funds do not have to accept all students. These schools and entities may discriminate based
2 on a student's religion or lack thereof, academic achievement, ELL status, disability, homelessness
3 or transiency, gender, gender identity and sexual orientation.

4 Because SB 302 takes funding away from the uniform system of common schools
5 and applies to private educational services that are unregulated and non-uniform I find that there is 6 reasonable probability that Plaintiffs will prevail on the merits of their argument that SB 302
7 violates Article XI, section 2 of the Nevada Constitution.

8 Plaintiffs also allege that in establishing the mandate to support a public school
9 system, the Nevada Constitution has, in the same breath, forbidden the Legislature from 10 establishing a separate alternative system to Nevada's uniform system of public schools. "Nevada 11 follows the maxim 'expressio unius est exclusio alterius,' the expression of one thing is the 12 exclusion of another," State v. Javier C., 128 Nev. Adv. Op. 50, 289 P.3d 1194, 1197 (2012), and 13 "[t]his rule applies as forcibly to the construction of written Constitutions as other instruments."
14 King v. Bd. of Regents of Univ. of Nev., 65 Nev. 533, 556, 200 P.2d 221 (1948).

15 Under this principle, the Legislature may not enact statutes that achieve
16 Constitutional goals by means different from those explicitly provided for in the Constitution. The 17 Nevada Supreme Court has expressly held that "[e]very positive direction" in the Nevada
18 Constitution "contains an implication against anything contrary to it which would frustrate or 19 disappoint the purpose of that provision." Galloway v. Truesdell, 83 Nev. 13, 26, 422 P.2d 237, 20 246 (1967) (citation omitted); see also id. at 26 (holding that the "affirmation of a distinct policy
21 upon any specific point in a state constitution implies the negation of any power in the legislature 22 to establish a different policy").

23 I therefore find that there is reasonable probability that Plaintiffs will prevail on the 24 merits of their argument that the Constitution's mandate to provide for education through the 25 establishment of a uniform system of public schools prohibits the Legislature from enacting SB

27

IRREPARABLE HARM

Because SB 302 violates the Nevada Constitution, Plaintiffs do not need to demonstrate any irreparable injury. City of Sparks v. Sparks Mun. Court, 129 Nev. Adv. Op. 38, 302 P.3d 1118, 1124 (2013) (“As a constitutional violation may be difficult or impossible to remedy through money damages, such a violation may, by itself, be sufficient to constitute irreparable harm.”).

Regardless, the Court also finds that Plaintiffs have demonstrated a threat of irreparable injury if SB 302 is not enjoined. As established in Plaintiffs’ papers and the supporting declarations, if SB 302 is not enjoined money will be diverted from the public school system and such a diversion of funds will disrupt the ability of school administrators to provide for quality of education. As set forth by Plaintiffs’ declarants, SB 302 may cause certain school districts to adjust classrooms mid-year, cut extracurricular activities or “non-essentials,” or even potentially close an entire school. Because money damages cannot remedy these harms, Plaintiffs have met the burden of showing an irreparable injury if SB 302 is not enjoined.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, therefore, and for good cause appearing, that Plaintiffs’ motion for a preliminary injunction is GRANTED;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant Dan Schwartz, in his official capacity as Treasurer of the State of Nevada, is enjoined from implementing Senate Bill 302.

I began my academic career as an assistant professor at Iowa State University, where I taught in the Historical, Philosophical and Comparative Studies in Education program. I accepted a position at the University of Illinois in 2004, was tenured in 2007, and promoted to full Professor in 2013. In 2011, I was named a Fulbright Senior Scholar for New Zealand. I also am currently a Sir Walter Murdoch Adjunct Professor in Education Policy at Murdoch University in Perth, Australia. I have been active in the Special Interest Group on School Choice, including as program chair, for the American Educational Research Association. I also co-direct the K-12 Working Group for the Scholars Strategy Network at Harvard University.

3. My research on school choice has been funded by the Federal Institute of Education Science (under the G.W. Bush Administration), the William T. Grant Foundation, the Australian Research Council, the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development, the Walton Family Foundation, the Hewlett Foundation, and the Spencer Foundation. I have authored or edited four academic books (one in press) having to do with school choice, charter schools, and vouchers, including an award-winning book in 2014 from the University of Chicago Press on public and private school achievement. I have two more books in preparation on this general topic. I have also published over 80 academic papers, mostly on school choice, the majority of which have been published in peer-reviewed journals.

4. I have been studying voucher and charter school policies since the early 1990s, focusing both on the United States as well as comparable school choice systems in other nations. My key publications relevant to the voucher issue include a 2008 article in the Brigham Young University Law Review (with Peter Weitzel) on voucher outcomes, a 2009 article in Educational Policy (with Weitzel & Sarah Lubienski) on voucher advocacy, the 2014 book from the University of Chicago Press (with Sarah Lubienski) based on nationally representative federal datasets, and an upcoming article in the Peabody Journal of Education (with T. Jameson Brewer) on impacts of vouchers on different populations. Through this research, I have been familiarized with voucher policies throughout the United States. I also examine school choice between public and private schools from an international perspective, using data from the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

5. In preparation for developing opinions in the matter of Lopez v. Schwartz, Case No. 150C002071B, First District Court in and for Carson City Nevada, I have reviewed the following documents and artifacts:

- a. Original Complaint, Lopez v. Schwartz, Case No. 150C0020171B
- b. Senate Bill 302, enacted May 29, 2015 (Nevada’s recently enacted voucher legislation)
- c. September 2, 2015 Proposed Regulations of the State Treasurer
- d. Comparable legislation regarding voucher programs in other states, as well as voucher programs in the District of Columbia and Douglas County, Colorado
- e. Research from Suzanne Eckes and Jessica Ulm, of Indiana University, and Julie Mead, of the University of Wisconsin, to be published in the *Peabody Journal of Education*¹
- f. Compendia of information on voucher programs, as compiled by two pro-voucher advocacy organizations: the Friedman Foundation for Educational Choice,² and the Heritage Foundation³

6. In forming the opinions presented in this report, I relied on my scholarly experience in researching school choice in general, and voucher plans in particular, over a period of more than two decades. This work includes studying voucher programs — including voucher programs that use education savings accounts (“ESAs”) or their equivalents — charter schools, and other school choice programs in the United States, as well studying similar programs in Australia, Chile, England and Wales, Korea, New Zealand, and Sweden. During that time I have compiled a library of some 3,470 articles, books and papers on the topic of vouchers and school choice.

II. Opinions Presented

7. Given the information available to me at this time, I have formed four opinions, based on my knowledge, experience and training that relate to Senate Bill 302 (“SB 302”).

These opinions are outlined in detail below and include:

- a. Opinion 1: Voucher programs in other states are most often made available to children based on their family’s income or to children at academically underperforming schools; many voucher programs also cap the number of recipients of voucher funding per year. Compared to other states, SB 302 is anomalous in that it is not limited to children who have an apparent need for assistance and has no upper bound on the number of recipients per year.
- b. Opinion 2: Voucher programs in other states often impose academic and curricular requirements on institutions receiving the voucher funds. Compared to other states, SB 302 is anomalous in that it includes relatively few restrictions for ESA-eligible institutions. SB 302 does not impose any curricular requirements, has minimal testing requirements, and no performance requirements.
- c. Opinion 3: Voucher programs in other states often impose non-discrimination requirement on institutions receiving voucher funds. Compared to other states, SB 302 is anomalous in that it includes no language prohibiting institutions receiving ESA funds from discriminating against children on a number of bases, including religion, sexual orientation, English Language Learner status, and ability to pay.
- d. Opinion 4: SB 302 represents a move toward what is, relatively speaking, an unregulated system of publicly funded schooling that may lead to more inequitable opportunities and outcomes.

A. Opinion 1: Voucher programs in other states are most often made available to children based on their family’s income or to children at academically underperforming schools; many voucher programs also cap the number of recipients of voucher funding per year. Compared to other states, SB 302 is anomalous in that it is not limited to children who have an apparent need for assistance and has no upper bound on the number of recipients per year.

8. Eight other states, along with the District of Columbia and Douglas County, Colorado,⁴ have adopted publicly funded school voucher legislation not targeted only at students with special needs.⁵ All of these states have instituted eligibility requirements for students based on family income or the academic performance of their assigned public school, or have limits on the number or location of students that can enroll in the program. For instance, eligibility for voucher programs in the District of Columbia, Indiana, North Carolina, and Wisconsin is based on the incomes of students' families.⁶ Applicants for the District of Columbia Opportunity Scholarship Program must come from families making no more than 185% of the federal poverty level, or be eligible for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. Applicants to Indiana's Choice Scholarship Program must come from families making less than 150% of the level set for Free or Reduced Lunch (FRL) eligibility, or 200% of that level under certain circumstances. North Carolina caps eligibility at 133% of the FRL level. Wisconsin's programs are limited to students from families making less than 300% of the federal poverty level in Milwaukee and Racine, or 185% elsewhere, where they must also be eligible for FRL. Louisiana's voucher system takes into account both the income of the student's family and the academic performance of the child's assigned public school. Arizona's program is capped at 0.5% of the previous year's total public school enrollment, and is limited to students with special needs, in low-performing schools, from military families, or from foster families — covering only an estimated 22% of Arizona students.⁷ Programs in Maine and Vermont are targeted only at children in rural areas with no public schools.

9. SB 302 does not place any meaningful requirements, income or otherwise, on families who wish to register for an ESA. SB 302 requires only that students have been enrolled in a public or charter school, even if part-time, for 100 days at some point prior to establishing an account through SB 302. Thus, all children in Nevada are eligible to meet the minimum requirement, even children whose parents' income is otherwise more than sufficient to afford private school payments and children already in the private school sector. No other state-wide program in the US comes anywhere near that level of eligibility.

10. Only the Cleveland Scholarship Program in Ohio, and the Douglas County voucher program established in Colorado (recently ruled to be unconstitutional by the Colorado Supreme Court) approach the almost universal eligibility seen in Nevada with SB 302. Yet both of these local programs are restricted based on local geographic eligibility. Moreover, the Cleveland program gives preference to students from families making less than 200% of the federal poverty level (while other students can apply, they must get approval from the state Superintendent). The Douglas County program was capped for total enrollment and gave preference to low-income students.⁸ None of those eligibility requirements apply in the case of SB 302.

11. Thus, SB 302 is anomalous from all other mainstream voucher programs that I have studied in that it is not targeted at children based on their parents' income, or children at academically underperforming schools, and does not cap the number of recipients of these funds per year.

B. Opinion 2: Voucher programs in other states often impose academic and curricular requirements on institutions receiving the voucher funds. Compared to other states, SB 302 is anomalous in that it includes relatively few restrictions for ESA-eligible institutions. SB 302 does not impose any curricular requirements, has minimal testing requirements, and no performance requirements.

12. States that have adopted voucher programs targeted at mainstream populations often impose academic and curricular requirement on schools receiving voucher funds. For instance, Indiana requires that participating private schools be accredited and meet minimum academic standards (administer the state testing program and not receive a D or F rating for two or more years in a row), and conduct criminal background checks on school employees, among other criteria.⁹ Louisiana requires that participating schools be approved by the state, conduct criminal background checks on employees, maintain a quality curriculum equal to that of public schools, and meet academic performance standards based on a "Scholarship Cohort Index."¹⁰ North Carolina specifies that schools accepting vouchers be accredited (by the state, a national or regional accreditor, or be active in the North Carolina Association of Independent Schools), and conduct criminal background checks on school employees.¹¹

13. SB 302 does not have similar academic or curricular requirements for entities receiving voucher funding. In SB 302, “participating entities” are eligible if they (a) are licensed or exempt from licensing; (b) are part of the Nevada System of Higher Education or otherwise established in and organized under the laws of Nevada, tax-exempt, and accredited by a recognized regional accrediting agency; (c) are a part of a distance learning program; (d) if a tutoring service, be accredited by state, regional, or national organization (no specification that such be recognized by the government); or (e) are a parent. SB 302 includes no language regarding educational qualifications or standards, criminal backgrounds checks, accreditation standards for distance education or tutoring, or other factors used by other states to preclude the entry of unqualified or even dangerous providers into the program. The only specified academic requirement for participating entities is that they administer a norm-referenced achievement assessment in mathematics and English/language arts each year. SB 302 § 12(1)(a). However, SB 302 does not mandate that these subjects be taught or that participating entities achieve any minimum level of performance on these achievement tests. SB 302 also allows the State Treasurer (not the Department of Education) to review participating entities, but does not specify any criteria for what such a review would consider. SB 302 § 11 (5)(a-b).

14. Thus, as compared to other voucher programs that I have studied throughout the nation, SB 302 is anomalous in its lack of academic and curricular requirements for participating entities that are receiving these funds.

C. Opinion 3: Voucher programs in other states often impose non-discrimination requirements on institutions receiving voucher funds. Compared to other states, SB 302 is anomalous in that it includes no language prohibiting institutions receiving ESA funds from discriminating against children on a number of bases, including religion, sexual orientation, English Language Learner status, and ability to pay.

15. Other states that have adopted voucher programs targeted at general populations have required that institutions receiving voucher funds adopt non-discrimination policies. According to legal analyses by Suzanne Eckes and Jessica Ulm at Indiana University, and Julie Mead at the University of Wisconsin, all other states but three include some type of non-discrimination clause(s) for schools participating in their voucher programs.¹² Louisiana requires that schools use a transparent admissions process, and prohibits schools from applying additional admissions criteria to students using vouchers beyond those of the voucher program itself.¹³ Indiana requires the use of “fair” admission standards.¹⁴ Wisconsin specifies limits on capacity as the only legitimate reason for rejecting a voucher student. North Carolina and Wisconsin require that schools participating in a voucher program comply with 42 U.S.C. 2000d, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of “race, color, or national origin.” Four statutes (Indiana, Louisiana, North Carolina, and Ohio) include language regarding requirements that private, voucher-accepting schools serve students with disabilities. Some states have requirements for voucher-enrolling schools regarding the enrollment of students of differing faith traditions, standards for admission, or procedures for over-subscription. For instance, Wisconsin prohibits private schools from requiring voucher-funded students to participate in religious practices.¹⁵

16. SB 302 does not require that participating entities receiving ESA funds adopt non-discrimination policies. Many private schools in Nevada have policies that are discriminatory. For instance, Liberty Baptist Academy in Las Vegas requires parents to “attend all church services including Sunday morning, Sunday night, Wednesday night and special conferences and revivals,” and only accepts students whose parents agree to perform volunteer service for the school — thereby effectively excluding children of working parents lacking the time to perform such service.¹⁶ Faith Christian Academy in Gardnerville explicitly excludes non-Christian students, students who do not have at least one parent who is also a Christian and is in agreement with the school’s statement on human sexuality, as well as students whose academic performance is below average, or have behavioral problems.¹⁷ And while Trinity International School of Las Vegas says it admits students regardless of religious preference, students are required to submit a letter of recommendation from a pastor, and parents must sign an agreement acknowledging the importance of “Christian principles” as taught at the school and regular church attendance.¹⁸ Additionally, Trinity International School charges additional fees of $525.00 per class per semester for English Language Learners. Nothing in SB 302 prevent schools that discriminate in this manner from receiving funding.

17. Moreover, nothing in SB 302 prevents a private school from charging more than the ESA amount and denying entry to those who are unable to pay the full tuition amount. Other states, such as Ohio and Wisconsin explicitly prohibit schools receiving vouchers from leveraging additional charges that would exclude poor students. Ohio prohibits schools from charging additional tuition or fees beyond the amount of the voucher for students from families at less than 200% of the federal poverty level. In Wisconsin, that level is specified at 220% for high school students. SB 302 makes no such prohibition, and therefore allows schools to exclude students unable to pay additional tuition or fees.

18. Thus, SB 302 is anomalous as compared to other states that I have studied in that it does not impose any non-discrimination requirements on participating entities receiving these funds.

D. Opinion 4: SB 302 represents a move toward what is, relatively speaking, an unregulated system of publicly funded schooling that may lead to more inequitable opportunities and outcomes.

19. Voucher programs are often justified on the basis that increased choice and competition will lead to increased efficiency and performance in the school system, thereby increasing access to quality options for all school children. While choice and competition may produce efficient results in the business sector, such policies often lead to increasingly segregated schools and unevenly distributed opportunities in the education sector.

20. Research on the organizational behavior of schools in choice-based systems suggests that they may embrace policies that lead to inequitable educational opportunities for students. The inequitable effects created by choice-based systems is often explained by the fact that, under these programs, instead of students choosing schools, schools are able to choose their students. The ability to select amongst students typically leads to barriers to entry for higher-cost, lower-scoring, or more-difficult-to-educate students.¹⁹

21. This is perhaps most evident in the difficulty of special education students in finding places in New Orleans' charter/voucher system, where autonomous schools, concerned about test scores and costs, have discouraged higher-cost and more difficult-to-educate students from attending, leaving those students few options other than the public schools.²⁰ Recent research from Johns Hopkins University on Chicago's choice system also finds disadvantaged students have fewer and poorer quality choices for schools in near proximity. Students from Chicago communities where the median household income exceeds $75,000 typically attend a smaller set of 2-3 schools; when that figure falls below $25,000, students are dispersed to 13

schools, on average, and had average commutes that are significantly longer.²¹ Patterns of inequities inherent to such systems are also evident in a 2014 report from the OECD which noted that, in an examination of 11 nations, poorer families in choice systems have less access to information on school quality, and tend to focus on transportation and other costs when choosing schools, while more affluent families are able to absorb costs and put more emphasis on academic quality; thus, in systems where schools have to compete for the choices of families, “schools are often more socially segregated.”²²

22. Under SB 302, which, as explained in Opinions 1-3, is less regulated than any other voucher program in the nation, the segregative effects typically associated with choice programs may be more pronounced. Nevada appears to be moving toward an education marketplace characterized by an uneven playing field between school sectors. District-run public schools are required to serve all students living within the district’s boundaries. Yet, entities participating in SB 302 do not operate under that level of regulation, and are free to include or exclude students with relatively little constraint. However, the Legislature has required that public schools, including charter schools, serve all students, regardless of: (a) Race; (b) Gender; (c) Religion; (d) Ethnicity; or (e) Disability, of a pupil.²³ Moreover, district schools in Nevada are subject to requirements regarding curriculum, testing, and teacher standards. Participating entities in SB 302 do not have to meet these requirements. Despite the fact that these two sectors are subject to significantly different regulations and requirements, they are being positioned to compete for students and the portable funding they bring.

23. Virtually all the research of which I am aware on school choice and organizational behavior suggests that this may promote more segregated patterns of student sorting by race, ethnicity, socio-economic status, and academic ability, as autonomous schools are funded and incentivized to serve more advantaged students. Autonomous schools receiving voucher funding compete not by improving educational outcomes, but by capitalizing on their autonomy to select more advantaged and higher performing students, leaving disadvantaged and lower performing students to the public schools required to accept them. SB 302 stands out for its lack of (a) basic measures of quality control for education providers, and (b) safeguards for the equitable treatment of students using these public funds to pursue an education. While other states have put in place non-discrimination requirements and certain academic requirements for educational service providers in voucher systems, SB 302 imposes almost no similar requirements. As such, the segregative effects typically seen with choice programs may be more pronounced under SB 302.

I, PAUL JOHNSON, declare as follows:

1 1. I am the Chief Financial Officer ("CFO") of White Pine County School District
2 ("White Pine"). I have been the CFO of White Pine for over 18 years and have served on a
3 number of panels and task forces to evaluate the funding formula for the Nevada public school
4 system. I make this declaration based on personal knowledge and experience. If called as a
5 witness, I could and would competently testify to the facts set forth herein.

6 2. As CFO of White Pine, I have personal knowledge of the management of White
7 Pine's yearly budget. I have also read SB 302 and the proposed regulations and analyzed the 8 potential impact of SB 302 on White Pine.

9 3. White Pine is a smaller rural school district serving around 1,200 Nevada students.
10 It is similar in size to Lander and Lincoln counties, serving more students than Esmeralda, Eureka, 11 Mineral, Pershing, Storey, and University, but fewer than Clark County, Elko, Washoe, and 12 others.

13 4. Public schools in Nevada are funded through the "Nevada Plan." White Pine and 14 other school districts in Nevada receive funding from two sources under the Nevada Plan: (i) the 15 State, via the State Distributive School Account ("DSA"); and (ii) local funds, via the Local 16 School Support Tax and ad valorem taxes. School districts also receive certain funds outside of 17 the Nevada Plan through local and other sources. Under the Nevada Plan, the State determines a
18 guaranteed amount of funding (the "basic support guarantee") for each local school district. A 19 school district's total guaranteed support is calculated by multiplying the basic support guarantee 20 per pupil by the average daily enrollment of pupils enrolled in a school district (with different
21 weights given to different students), as calculated and reported on a quarterly basis (on October 1, 22 January 1, April 1, and July 1). The State then appropriates from the DSA to school districts the 23 difference between the total guaranteed support and local funds available to the district. In other 24 words, the DSA covers only a portion of a school district's per-pupil expenditures. For example,
25 White Pine's basic support guarantee for fiscal year 2015-2016 is $7,799 per pupil. Using an 26 enrollment figure of approximately 1212 students for fiscal year 2015-2016, White Pine's total
27 guaranteed support is $9,452,388. Of that, around 58 percent, or $4,485.50 per student, is funded 28 by the state through the DSA.

1 5. SB 302 and its proposed regulations allow students who have been enrolled in one
2 or more classes at a public school for 100 days to become eligible to receive between $5,139 and
3 $5,710 in funds originally appropriated for the public schools. A number of damaging scenarios
4 are possible:

5 a. First, students who leave the public schools after obtaining ESAs may no longer be 6 counted towards the school district's quarterly enrollment figure. Despite the fact
7 that those students will not be counted towards the school district's total enrollment
8 figures, funds for ESAs will be deducted from the school district's quarterly
9 apportionment from the DSA. If these assumptions are correct, SB 302 is likely to 10 have grave impacts, particularly on smaller school districts, where small shifts in 11 enrollment have a substantial impact on the operating budget of such districts. For 12 example, in White Pine, a decline of enrollment by 60 students, or about 5 percent,
13 would result in the reduction of White Pine's total guaranteed support by $467,940
14 ($7,799 multiplied by 60 students). In addition to a reduction in total guaranteed
15 support as a result of the decline in enrollment, White Pine's apportionment from 16 the DSA would be reduced by the amount of funds deposited in ESAs for those 17 students, or between $300,000 and $342,000. This would result in a total reduction
18 of funding of approximately $783,000 to $825,000. Total revenue would decline 19 by approximately 6.8 percent to 7.2 percent as the result of a 5 percent migration of 20 students to the voucher system.

21 b. Second, even if students who receive ESAs continue to be included in White Pine's
22 enrollment figure for purposes of calculating White Pine's total guaranteed support
23 (and I have no reason to believe they would), the reduction of funding to White
24 Pine will be significant. White Pine's apportionment from the DSA would still be 25 reduced by between $5,139 and $5,710 per pupil receiving an ESA. However, as 26 noted above, the State's portion of the basic support guarantee funding to White 27 Pine is only $4,485.50 per student. Therefore, White Pine's apportionment from 28 the DSA would be reduced by more than the ordinary per-pupil allotment from the

1 State. In other words, if a child left the district without receiving an ESA, White
2 Pine's budget would be reduced by $4,485 to reflect the declining enrollment
3 (subject to hold harmless provisions); however, for a student who leaves the district
4 after obtaining an ESA, White Pine's budget will be reduced by between $5,139 to 5 $5,710, or approximately an additional $515 to $1,215 beyond what it would
6 otherwise lose. Therefore, the loss of a student to an ESA does not result in a net-
7 neutral impact on the public schools, but rather a loss of funding due to a reduction
8 from the DSA apportionment on a more-than per-pupil basis.

9 6. Regardless of the precise mechanism by which ESA funds are removed from the 10 public schools' budgets, SB 302 will harm public schools and the students they serve. For 11 example, a school district will receive less than its projected funding for the year if students who 12 are enrolled in the prior school year elect to apply for an ESA and do not to return to public school
13 the following year. And, for students who enroll in the district for the first 100 days and then 14 leave, the district will receive the basic support guarantee for those students for the first half of the 15 year, but will have its funding reduced once the child leaves the school district. This will result in 16 a mid-year reduction of the district's operating budget.

17 7. Although White Pine's local funding will not be reduced as a result of SB 302, 18 White Pine and its students will still be harmed by the loss of DSA funding as a result of SB 302.
19 This is because if a student were to leave White Pine after obtaining an ESA, White Pine would 20 nevertheless maintain many of the fixed expenditures associated with educating that child.
21 Accordingly, a transfer of funds from a school district into an ESA is not a net neutral impact on 22 the public schools. Instead, if one or a handful of students leaves White Pine after obtaining an 23 ESA, White Pine still must run the same number of buses, employ the same number of 24 administrators, staff the same number of classes, maintain the same square footage of property.
25 These fixed costs remain the same even if certain students leave the school district, and those costs
26 are not recouped if the student leaves the school district.

27 8. For example, the cost of salary and benefits for a typical classroom teacher in 28 White Pine is approximately $68,208. Imagine that teacher serves a classroom of 30 students, and

1 all of those students leave White Pine to obtain an ESA. In that circumstance, at least $154,170 to 2 $171,300 (30 x $5,139 or 30 x $5,710) would be deducted from White Pine's operating budget.
3 However, White Pine cannot easily eliminate a teacher in the middle of the school year without
4 significant disruption to the educational process. Also, pursuant to N.R.S. 391.3196, school
5 districts must notify teachers by May 1 if they will be reemployed for the ensuing school year.
6 These staffing decisions are made based on projected enrollment, and cannot be readily adjusted
7 during the school year. Even if White Pine were then able to eliminate the expense of the teacher
8 for that classroom, it would still have to reduce its budget by an additional $81,792 to $102,792.
9 Many of the school district's expenditures, however, are not easily reduced on a per-pupil basis.
10 In fact, the only costs which can be eliminated on a per-pupil basis are direct instructional costs.
11 At David E. Norman Elementary School, the average instructional cost for a student is $2,187. A 12 reduction of revenue by $5,139 to $5,710 per pupil would therefore require White Pine to make an 13 additional budget cut of $2,952 to $3,523 per pupil across budget items which cannot be reduced
14 on a per-pupil basis. For example, a loss of 30 students may not reduce the need or number of 15 school counselors, school administrators, school resource officers, custodial staff, maintenance
16 personnel, groundskeepers, bus routes, bus drivers, nutrition programs, and other support services.

17 9. Even more challenging is that, in reality, a loss of 30 students would likely not 18 come from one classroom, but rather from a departure of a few students in different grade levels.
19 Demand would then diminish slightly per classroom, but that reduction in demand would not 20 directly correlate to a reduction in demand of one teaching position. For example, if one student 21 in a classroom of 30 leaves White Pine after obtaining an ESA, the school district loses $5,139 to 22 $5,710, but retains the full expense of the teacher salary, as that teacher is still needed for the 23 remaining 29 students. Likewise, White Pine cannot eliminate the bus used to transport that child, 24 the custodial staff used to maintain that child's classroom, or the nutritional staff used to provide
25 food service to that student. Accordingly, White Pine does not recoup the funding lost as a result
26 of an ESA through savings of no longer having to serve that student. To the contrary, White Pine 27 retains all of the fixed costs of educating that student. Because of fixed costs that cannot be 28

1 reduced, White Pine would be forced to eliminate other services, like extracurricular activities that
2 keep students invested in school, in order to make ends meet.

3 10. The potential reduction of revenue resulting from SB 302 is particularly daunting
4 for a small school district. White Pine, for example, is currently facing a critical financial time as 5 a result of recent changes in enrollment. White Pine already struggles on its meager budget to 6 provide diverse and interesting academic offerings beyond the core academic subjects to make its 7 schools competitive. White Pine also already lacks funding for instructional materials, technology
8 support, maintenance staff, and student transportation. It has outsourced custodial and nutrition 9 services in order to keep those programs, but those cuts are becoming more and more difficult to 10 make. If White Pine were to lose additional students and funding as a result of SB 302, there 11 would be substantial impacts to students in the district.

12 11. If funding declines in the coming years as a result of SB 302, White Pine will 13 begin seriously considering closing schools because it will not be able to afford the overhead
14 required to maintain those facilities. As one such example, White Pine may be required to close
15 White Pine Middle School, and send students in grades six through eight to either White Pine
16 High School or David E. Norman Elementary School. Class sizes for grades four through twelve 17 would balloon, as White Pine would not be able to afford to take on or hire new teachers, and 18 Nevada law requires White Pine to maintain smaller class sizes in kindergarten through third 19 grade.

20 12. SB 302 will also negatively impact school districts to the extent it causes changes 21 in enrollment during the school year. As noted above, school districts receive, each quarter, an 22 amount calculated based on the quarterly enrollment figure for the immediately preceding quarter
23 of the school year. In part as a result of SB 302, which creates incentives for students to leave the 24 school district after 100 days, a school district's quarterly enrollment figure will change
25 throughout the year. Children who are enrolled for the first 100 days in the district but then leave
26 after receiving ESAs will be counted in the average daily enrollment for the count days on October
27 1 and January 1, but will not be counted on April 1 and July 1. Although there is a hold harmless 28 provision which provides that, if there has been an enrollment decrease from the same quarter of

1 the immediately preceding school year of 5 percent or more, a school district will maintain
2 funding in the amount of for the same quarter of the immediately preceding year, that hold 3 harmless provision will not eliminate the negative impact of SB 302, for three reasons:

- 4 a. First, the hold harmless provision will not protect districts who lose less than 5
5 percent of students as a result of SB 302 because it does not account for reductions
6 of less than five percent enrollment. Accordingly, for school districts that lose less
7 than 5 percent of their enrollment to SB 302, the budgetary allotment will be 8 adjusted on a quarterly basis, without any hold harmless provision for students who 9 leave the district after the first 100 days of school to obtain an ESA. As a result, a 10 school district's budgetary allotment will be reduced when any student applies for 11 and receives an ESA.
- 12 b. Second, quarterly budget fluctuations are likely to occur even for school districts
13 that lose more than 5 percent enrollment as a result of SB 302. If a school district,
14 over the course of the year, loses 5 percent of its students as a result of SB 302 over 15 the course of the year, there may not be a reduction of 5 percent or more in any 16 given quarter. Because the hold harmless provision applies only if there has been a 17 reduction of 5 percent or more from the same quarter of the immediately preceding 18 school year but not from the average enrollment for the entire prior year, there will 19 still be fluctuations on a quarterly basis that are exacerbated by students leaving the 20 district to obtain ESAs after 100 days.
- 21 c. Third, even if the hold harmless provision applies, the result will be an increased 22 and unbudgeted-for demand on the DSA. That is, if the hold harmless provision 23 applies, the state will be required not only to apportion funds to school districts at a 24 rate that includes the students who have left to obtain ESAs, but also to pay for the 25 ESAs themselves. In other words, if 7 percent of White Pine's students leave to 26 obtain an ESA in a single quarter, the hold harmless provision will apply and the 27 state will be required to apportion funds to White Pine for that 7 percent, or 28 $380,549.82 ($4,485.50 [the state DSA per-pupil amount covered by the DSA in

1 White Pine] x 7 percent of 1212 [the approximate enrollment of students in White
2 Pine for fiscal year 2015-2016]). At the same time, and in addition, the state will 3 be required to fund ESAs in an amount between $435,992.76 and $484,436.40. As 4 a result, the demand on the DSA will likely exceed the amount appropriated by the 5 Legislature to the DSA. Ultimately, SB 302 will create a funding obligation which 6 competes with funding the public schools.

7 13. In the long term, SB 302 will introduce significant budgeting instability that will 8 harm students. School districts like White Pine will be faced with the prospect of planning for a 9 shifting landscape. As a result, White Pine will face the substantial challenge of projecting and 10 budgeting for changes in enrollment caused on a regular basis and in the middle of the school year
11 by SB 302. Even if White Pine were able to reduce staffing to compensate for declining
12 enrollment caused by SB 302 in the middle of the year, those changes would be incredibly 13 disruptive to a school community. Schools would be required to revise its course offerings, 14 change student schedules, and move students into different classrooms. Schools must also 15 consider whether the teacher certifications of the remaining teachers match the student population
16 need as well as whether the course offerings correspond with the curricular needs of students.
17 Making those changes in the middle of the year, or even from year to year, reduces the quality of 18 education that schools are able to provide.

19 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of Nevada that the foregoing is true and 20 correct. Dated this 19 day of October, 2015 in White Pine County, Nevada.

1 I, JEFF ZANDER, declare as follows:

2 1. I am Superintendent of the Elko County School District. I have been 3 Superintendent of the Elko County School District since 2010. From 2006 to 2009 I was the 4 Assistant Superintendent of Finance and Facilities in the Elko County School District. I served as 5 the Comptroller of the Elko County School District from 2001 to 2006. I make this declaration
6 based on personal knowledge and experience. If called as a witness, I could and would 7 competently testify to the facts set forth herein.

8 2. As Superintendent of Elko County and in my previous positions as Comptroller and 9 Assistant Superintendent of Finance and Facilities, I have personal knowledge of the management
10 of Elko County's yearly budget. I have read SB 302 and the proposed regulations and analyzed
11 the potential impact of SB 302 on Elko County.

12 3. SB 302 and its proposed regulations allow students who have been enrolled in one
13 or more classes at a public school for 100 days to become eligible to receive either $5,139 or 14 $5,710 in funds originally appropriated for the public schools. It is my understanding that those 15 funds will be deducted from the school district's quarterly apportionment from the State
16 Distributive School Account ("DSA").

17 4. SB 302 will reduce the funding available to school districts and may result in a 18 mid-year or quarterly reduction of the district's operating budget. While SB 302 will result in the 19 reduction of district budgetary allotments on a quarterly basis, many of a school district's costs are 20 fixed prior to the start of a school year, based on estimated enrollment for the upcoming year. For 21 example, school districts must notify teachers by May 1 if they will be reemployed for the ensuing 22 school year, and cannot readily reduce staffing during the school year. School districts have 23 several other fixed costs, including leases for copy machines, and licenses for interim assessment
24 and intervention tracking software.

25 5. These fixed costs cannot be adjusted on a per-pupil basis during the school year,
26 particularly in rural counties. Smaller rural counties like Elko do not have the ability to easily
27 transfer teachers to other positions or other schools when there are minor changes in enrollment, 28 because those schools can be up to 100 miles apart. For smaller rural districts, making these

1 staffing determinations accurately is critical to developing a budget for the next fiscal year.
2 Because SB 302 introduces instability into district budgeting, there may be teacher surpluses in a
3 given school, which will result in the elimination of programming and opportunities for students.

4 6. When there are reductions to a school district's budgetary allotment, the district
5 may be required to eliminate teacher resources and professional development programs which are 6 critical to improving instruction at our schools. This may include the elimination of: (i)
7 professional development opportunities that help teachers create challenging and engaging 8 curricula; (ii) coaching/mentoring programs for classroom teachers; (iii) overtime pay used to 9 compensate teachers for time spent beyond the school day in professional learning communities to 10 improve instruction; and (iv) IT and maintenance positions, which provide critical support to 11 schools. Other programs that provide substantial benefits to students but are not essential to the 12 day-to-day delivery of instruction may be eliminated or reduced, including extra and co-curricular 13 activities like music programs and intramural sports.

14 7. The fact that SB 302 allows students to leave in the middle of a school year makes 15 managing budget reductions all the more challenging. Mid-year budget reductions are particularly 16 harmful and disruptive to schools. They require school districts to make changes in the allocation
17 of resources and the provision of programs during the school year, to the detriment of students.

18 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of Nevada that the foregoing is true and 19 correct. Dated this 19 day of September, 2015 in Elko, NV.

1 I, JIM MCINTOSH, declare as follows:

2 1. I am the Chief Financial Officer ("CFO") of Clark County School District
3 ("CCSD"). I have been the CFO of CCSD since 2013. Prior to being named CFO of CCSD, I
4 was the Deputy CFO of CCSD and, before that, the Accounting Director of CCSD. I make this 5 declaration based on personal knowledge and experience. If called as a witness, I could and would 6 competently testify to the facts set forth herein.

7 2. As CFO of CCSD and in my previous positions as Deputy CFO and Accounting
8 Director of CCSD, I have personal knowledge of the management of CCSD's yearly budget. I
9 have also read SB 302 and the proposed regulations.

10 3. Pursuant to SB 302, a student may enroll in the first 100 days of classes and,
11 subsequently, leave the district, taking with him or her 90 to 100 percent of the basic support
12 guarantee attributable to that student. Practically, the reduction of funds to a district will happen
13 almost immediately. Pursuant to N.R.S. 387.1233, a district must report its average enrollment on 14 a quarterly basis, which the state then uses to compute a district's budgetary allotment. Funding
15 allotted to a district will be adjusted up or down on a quarterly basis based on quarterly changes in 16 enrollment. Accordingly, a district's budget will be reduced mid-year if students enroll for the first 17 100 days of school and subsequently leave after obtaining an ESA.

18 4. Although CCSD is funded on a quarterly basis, it must project and plan for an 19 annual budget, based on projected enrollment for the upcoming school year. For example,
20 CCSD's projected enrollment for the 2015-2016 school year is 322,902. If CCSD lost 1,000
21 students from its projected enrollment, CCSD would experience a budgetary shortfall of over $5
22 million dollars. That budgetary shortfall would cause significant harm to students enrolled in 23 CCSD, in the following ways:

- 24 a. Because teachers must be rehired by May 1 of the preceding school year, a decline 25 from projected enrollment may result in a teacher surplus in a particular school.
26 The district-wide impact of any teacher surplus is significant, as salaries comprise 27 between 85-87 percent of CCSD's expenditures. In order to respond to that teacher
28 surplus, CCSD must transfer teachers from overstaffed positions to vacant

1 positions. This can be a disruptive process, during which individual classes must be 2 restructured and teachers moved to different schools. If all vacancies are filled and 3 a teacher surplus remains, CCSD may be forced to reduce the workforce. Even if a
4 school district reduces a workforce, it is required to provide substantial notice
5 pursuant to the collective bargaining agreements. Thus, any reduction in workforce 6 would not take effect immediately, and the district would not recoup the costs of 7 declining enrollment immediately.

8 b. Fixed costs, including salaries, utilities, transportation, facilities maintenance and 9 upkeep, make up a large portion of CCSD's budget. These costs cannot be readily 10 decreased if there is a reduction of students. For example, if one student leaves the 11 district, the district will nevertheless still have to pay for the school bus that 12 previously transported that child to school. As another example, CCSD enters into 13 software licenses for instructional tools (i.e., for reading comprehension and 14 mathematics skill-building) on an annual basis based on estimated enrollment 15 figures. Those costs do not decrease when a student obtains an ESA and leaves the 16 district.

17 c. Because many of CCSD's costs are fixed, CCSD may be forced to make budgetary 18 adjustments which would be detrimental to students. For example, a school may 19 have to eliminate instructional materials for certain courses or cut programs like 20 college preparation programs, dropout prevention programs, math and science
21 enrichment programs. These curricular programs are critical to helping our schools
22 provide academic support to our highest-need students.

23 5. Further, the cost of educating students on a per-pupil basis in CCSD will increase 24 as enrollment declines. As a large district, CCSD is able to limit expenses through economies of 25 scale. For example, when the district negotiates a software license, a vendor may offer a lower 26 price per pupil because of CCSD's purchasing power. However, if CCSD's enrollment declines 27 or becomes unstable, the cost of these licenses and other services may increase on a per-pupil
28 basis, making it even more expensive to educate the students remaining in the district.

1 Additionally, the cost of educating high-need students, i.e., English language learners, students
2 with special needs, and students receiving free and reduced-price lunch, is between 1.5 and 2 times
3 higher than the average per-pupil cost in CCSD. The cost of educating students on a per-pupil
4 basis increases if students who are less expensive to educate leave the district, thereby increasing
5 the proportion of high-needs students in the district.

6 6. Impacts of shifting and declining enrollment and funding are felt most deeply at the 7 school level. Each time a particular school experiences a decline in enrollment and funding, staff
8 will be transferred and students will need to be re-dispersed mid-way through the school year. If 9 course offerings are reduced and student schedules changed, it could cause substantial disruption
10 to students' academic careers.

12 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of Nevada that the foregoing is true and 13 correct. Dated this 20 day of October, 2015 in Clark County.
